Way babe how's life? It's really been a kick-ass year! 5/11 I love you so much baby. You are the cutest! We have had so many great times together. Remember the big bird at Descanso? How about the Gatinists? Please never leave me, cause I would be lost without you. You are the prettiest, nicest, sexiest girl I know. You have given me the best 5 months of my life. I hope we get married and have many children.
You would make the best mother ever. Sometimes I wish you were my mother. We will have to have good honest — — — again real soon. Since I'm running out of space, turn to page 21. See you there!

Off the Wall

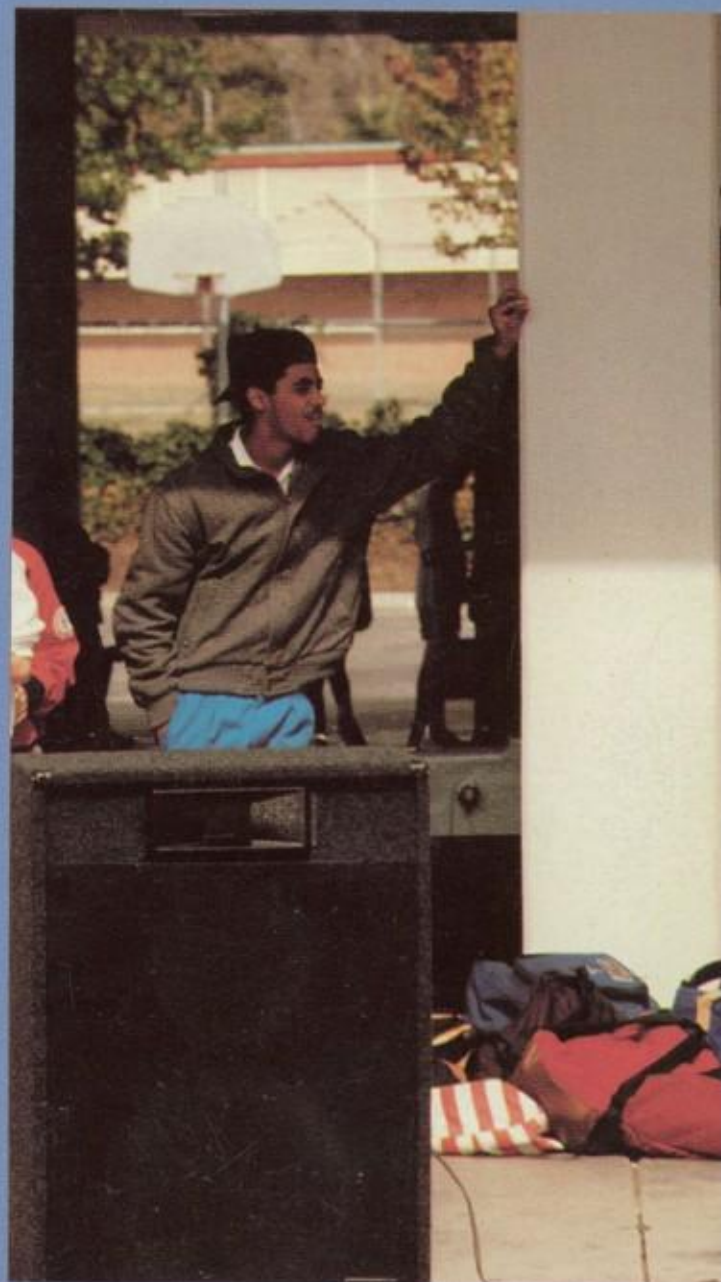

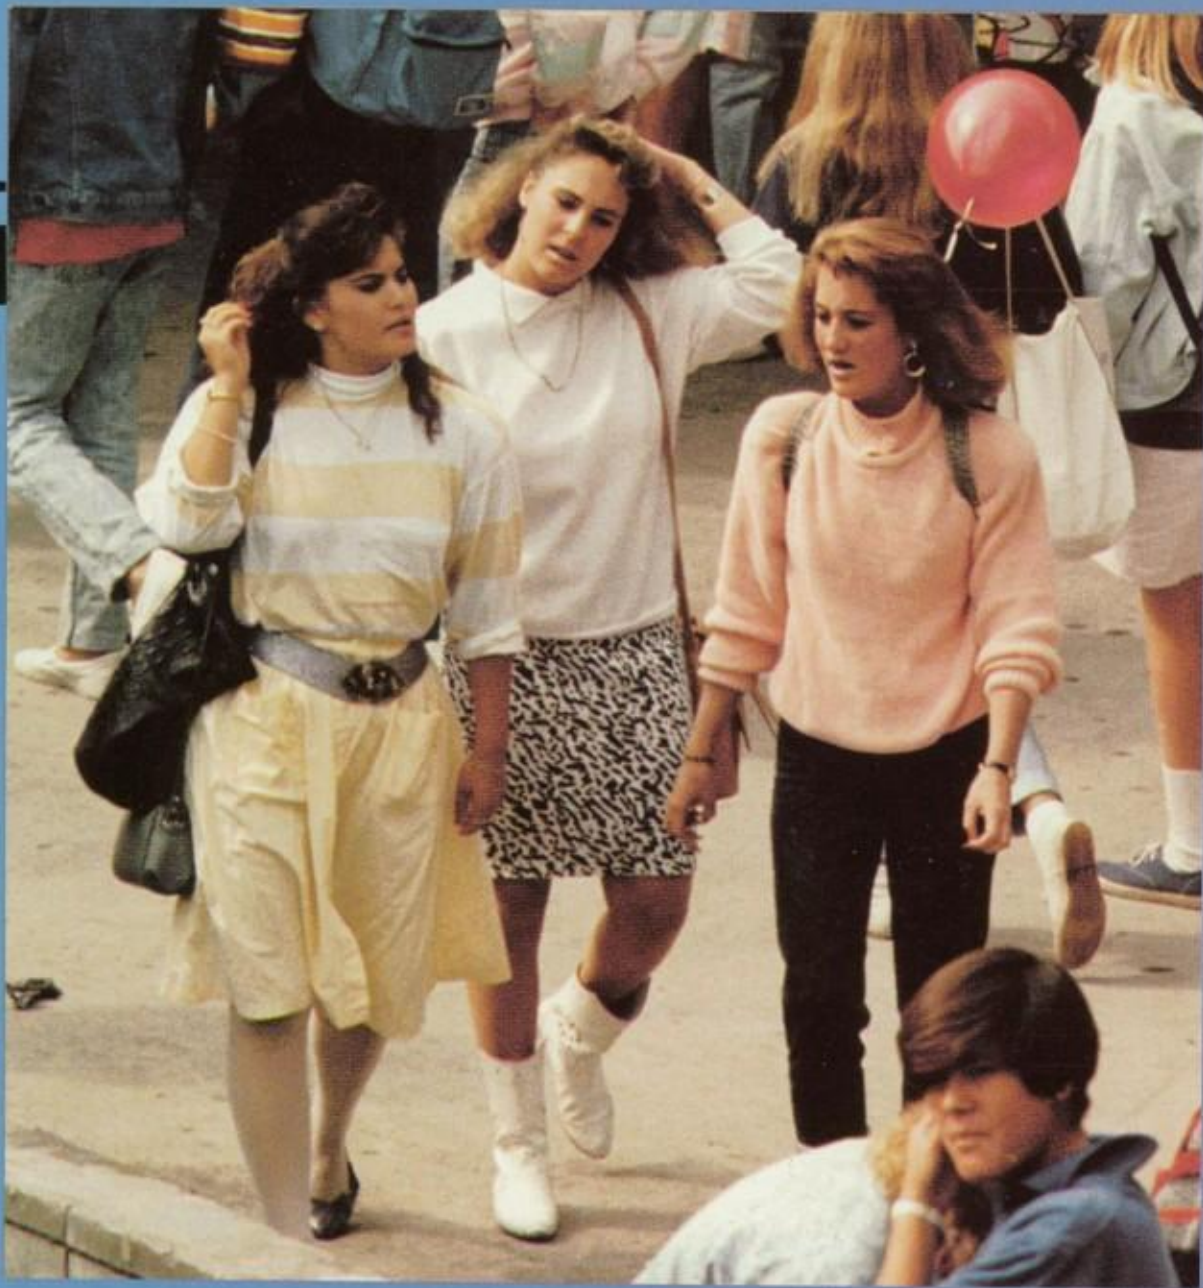

October 1, 1987. Out of huge piles of rubble and dark clouds of dust rose the magnificent and newly painted three-story superstructure of La Cañada High School. It would take more than a rumbling of the ground to tear down this haven of learning, this mecca of campus life. Each year the grounds surrounding the great institution becomes a second home to hundreds of young adults. The students come and go, each class seemingly very similar to the one which preceeded it. But this year there was something special about the group, something different, something a little bit . . . well . . . "off the wall". Maybe it was caused by the change in administration, or the new color tone of the lockers, or the looming threat of "The Big One", but whatever it was it produced a strain of students so far out of the ordinary, that Omega decided to center its entire book around this unusual phenomenon. This yearbook serves testimony to the distinguished, the not-so-distinguished, the unusual, the normal, the amazing, the possessed, and all of the other beings that made La Canada High a "cool place to hang out" in 1988.

The Great Wall . . .

Above we hear, "I don't know where it came from, I thought yellow was supposed to be a happy color!" To the right, La Cañada's own pair of Siamese twins joined at the foot and left shoulder, and boy do they drive!

Above left, these actions will never cease. Above hairy things. And left is some food for thought or thoughts, or memories or words or digestion or

CHAMPIONS

LUNCH- TIME!

"Waiting in line takes 34 minutes."

Above, three cases of severe tapeworm. Above right, $55 + 56 + 78 + 31 = 9$.
Wait ... 9? Right, "I wonder what it would be like to be diced."

There comes a time in everyone's life when they need that extra something to get them through the day, some substance necessary to fuel their vital functions. Luckily, our administration is required by law to allow us a thirty minute break for lunch. In the beginning, students thought that a half an hour was a bit too much, but through years of experience, we've dreamed up some great things to do during this most generous gift of time. By 1988, lunchtime had been reduced to mere science, a sheer perfection, a mold from which other lunch breaks should be cut. More than just a social gathering or a reason to buy taco salad, lunchtime now became a frenzied display of school unity, except for a few cases of people fighting over ropes. In fact, the mere mention of the word "lunch" now conjures up images of classes battling it out in tugs-of-war, and has basically become a synonym for fun. Isn't it great?

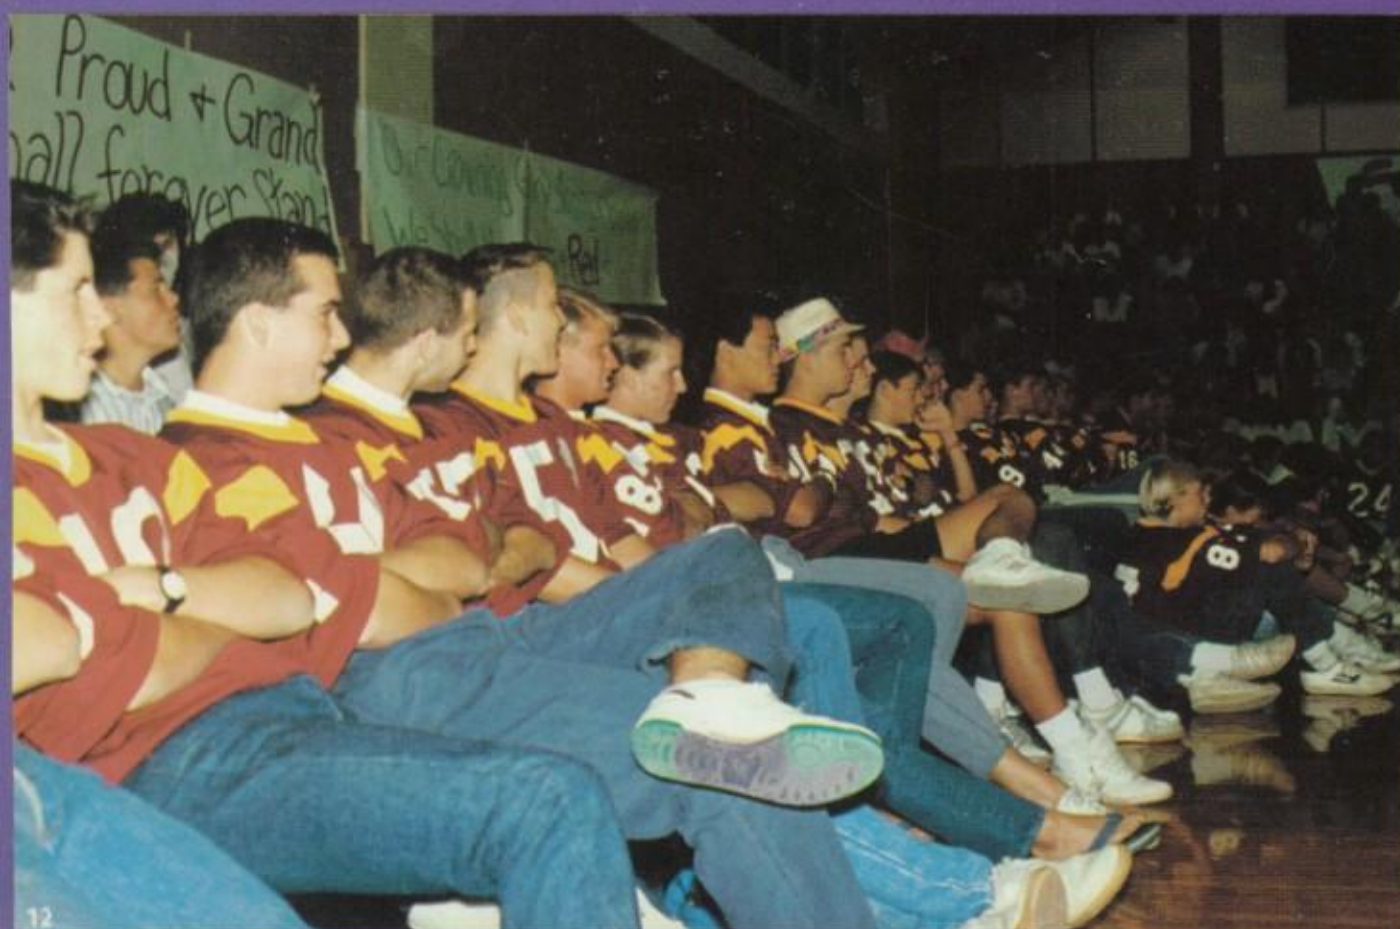

Above left, it would have been a great picture except for Matt staring directly into the camera ... and smiling. Above, lunch before the historic tug-o-war. Left, "I think he looked at me ... He did look at me ... I think he likes me ... Should I yell at him?"

Assemblies

or an easy 50 minutes?

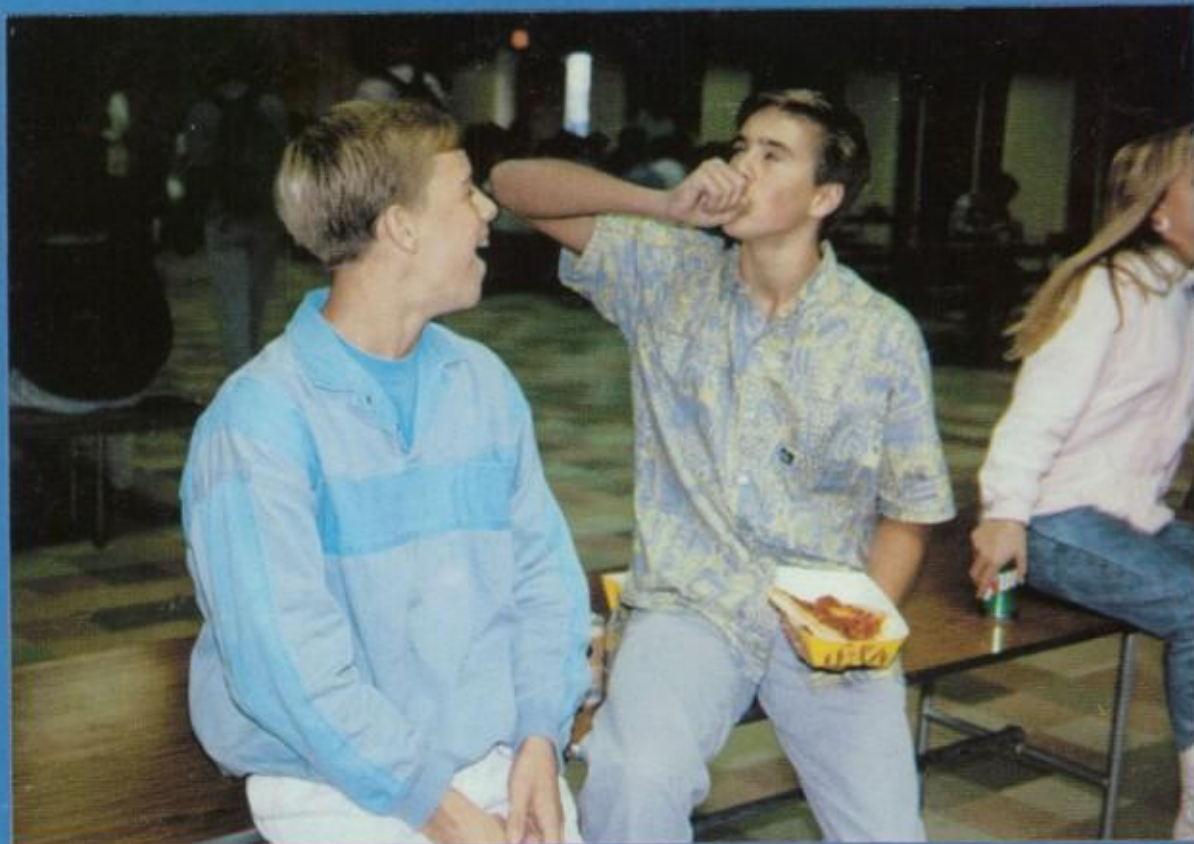

There comes a time in every person's life when he or she says, "Boy, I could really go for a good assembly." Luckily, our prayers were answered as the 1987-88 school year offered a plethora of excellent excuses to get away from the trials and tribulations of regular high school life. For some, third period offered logarithms for others, it meant Hamlet, and still others it was flatware, but for all of us, it was an escape from reality. Just when we thought assembly day schedule was perfect, five minutes were cut off of each class, so we did not have to miss that full period. We all have our own remember-ances of that little block of heaven that will no doubt be cherished in our hearts for eternity. Some of those memories were Andy Brooks bringing out that insanity in all of us. That kind of emotion that makes freshmen yell almost as loud as the seniors. How about the Songs, J.V.'s, Flags and Varsity cheerleaders spewing out the spirit that makes us proud to attend LCHS. Those proud teams that get to sit underneath the Alma Mater. What about Scott and Nayiri? "You've Lost That Loving Feeling" and our happy band playing jovial themes for us to tap our feet to? But you musn't forget the rumbling of the bleachers from senior spirit. That indeed is what makes assemblies and La Canada High School the proud institution that it is today. Assemblies were fun Don't you wish you had them on Betamax?

THE CAFETERIA

"I don't care
what you smell, I'm eating it."

Match each explanation with its corresponding photo:

- 1) "Cute smile pal, A&W went out of business."
- 2) "I can't believe it, how you eat that possum we hit. It's not even cold yet!"
- 3) "Gee look, so that's where all the Homecoming garbage goes!"
- 4) "Pizza a la Iris and the witch!"
- 5) "C'mon guys. Just enough to buy some fries."
- 6) "Lost in an ocean of heads, one hand remains victorious."

'T was the period before lunchtime, when all through the school not a teacher was stirring, [not even a mule] the pastramis were hung by the refrigerator with care,
in hopes that Iris soon would be there;
The students were settled all snug in their desks, while visions of taco salads ran through their necks.

When out on the Quad there arose such a roar

I patiently waited for giblets galore.
Away to the hall, I flew like a dart, tore open my locker and let out a sigh.

The shadow of light on the kettles so near let me know trichnosis was near, when what did my wondering eyes did appear,

but Mrs. Brooks and her assistant to qualm all my fears.

I soon realized my fears were not real.

I sat down like the rest and finished my meal.

LIP-SYNC '87

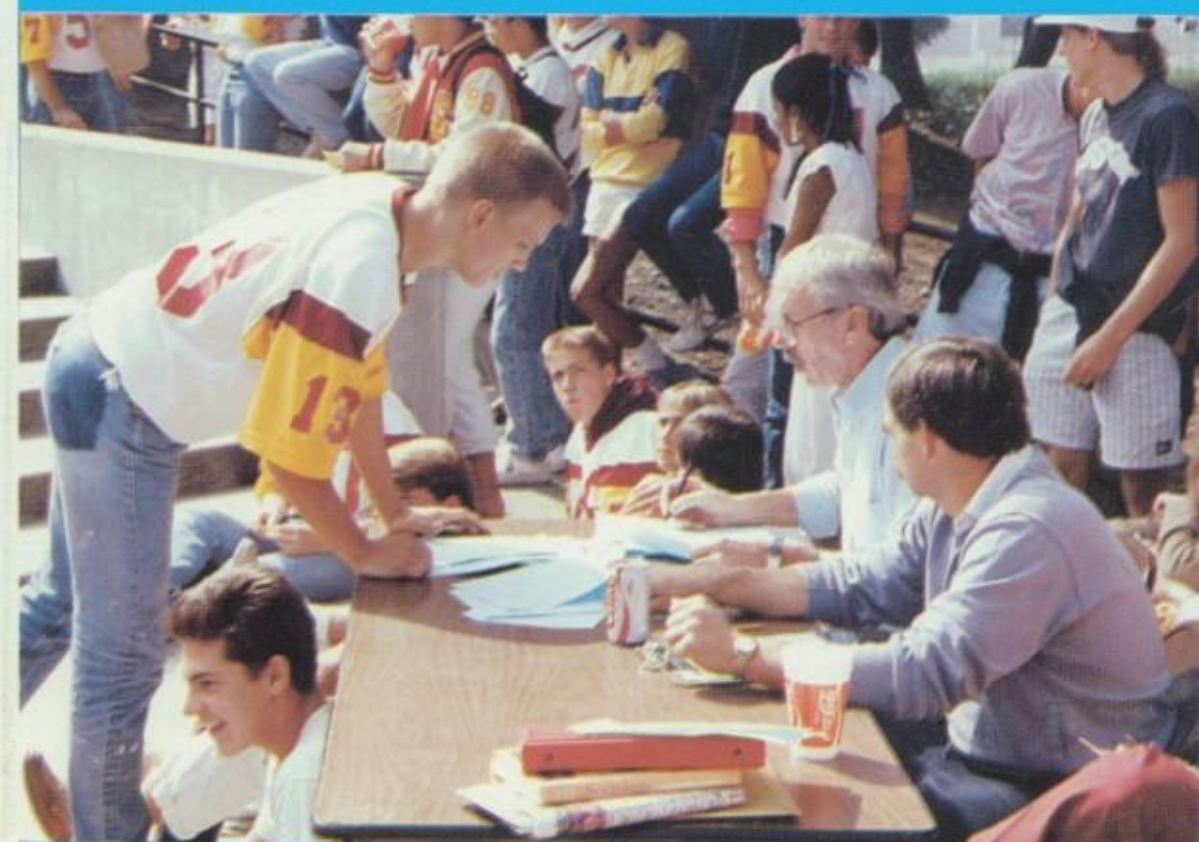

Just when lunchtime seemed to be more boring than going to classes, lip syncs suddenly appeared making those 30 minutes ones to remember for many years to come. Those who participated succeeded in making people laugh, giggle, and even drool. It seems as if these little performances in some way promoted school spirit in a big way.

No one will forget the senior girls awesome display of talent in Kool and the Gang's "Ladies Night". Scott Cameron proved irresistible as his lead performance had the girls screaming with ecstasy. Just when the senior girl performance seemed unbeatable, juniors Chip Walters, Sean Weingarten, Derek Simpson, and Mike D'Zurilla brought back Disco in "Disco Inferno". They were reported as saying, "Disco is the drug and we're high on funk."

They were the critics choice, as they were unanimously hailed #1 in the first lip sync of the year by the judges.

Another memorable lip sync act was performed by the scantily clothed junior girls in their version of "Nasty Girl". Their performance made them the talk of the town as guys dreamed of the Nasty Girls revealing apparel. It is my belief that L.C.H.S. has been changed as a result of the exotic display of talents at Lip Sync '87.

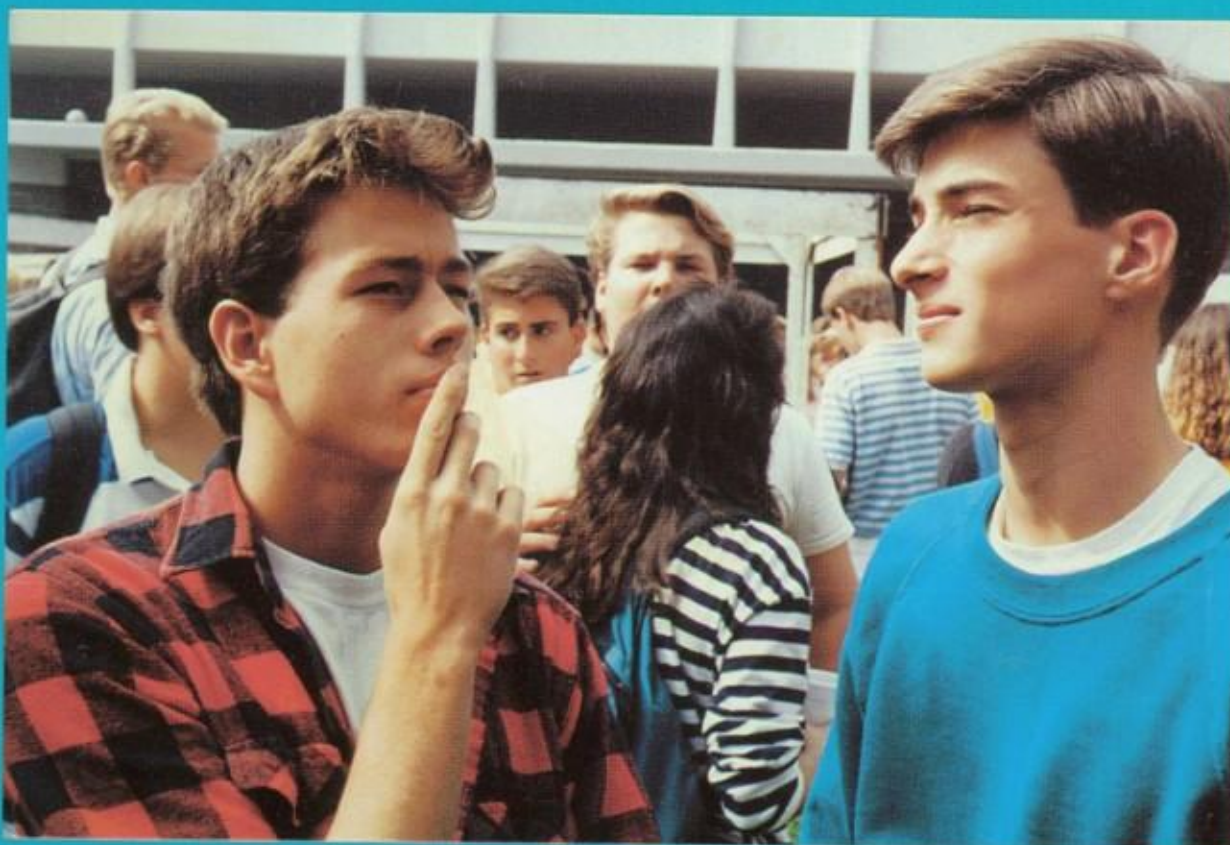

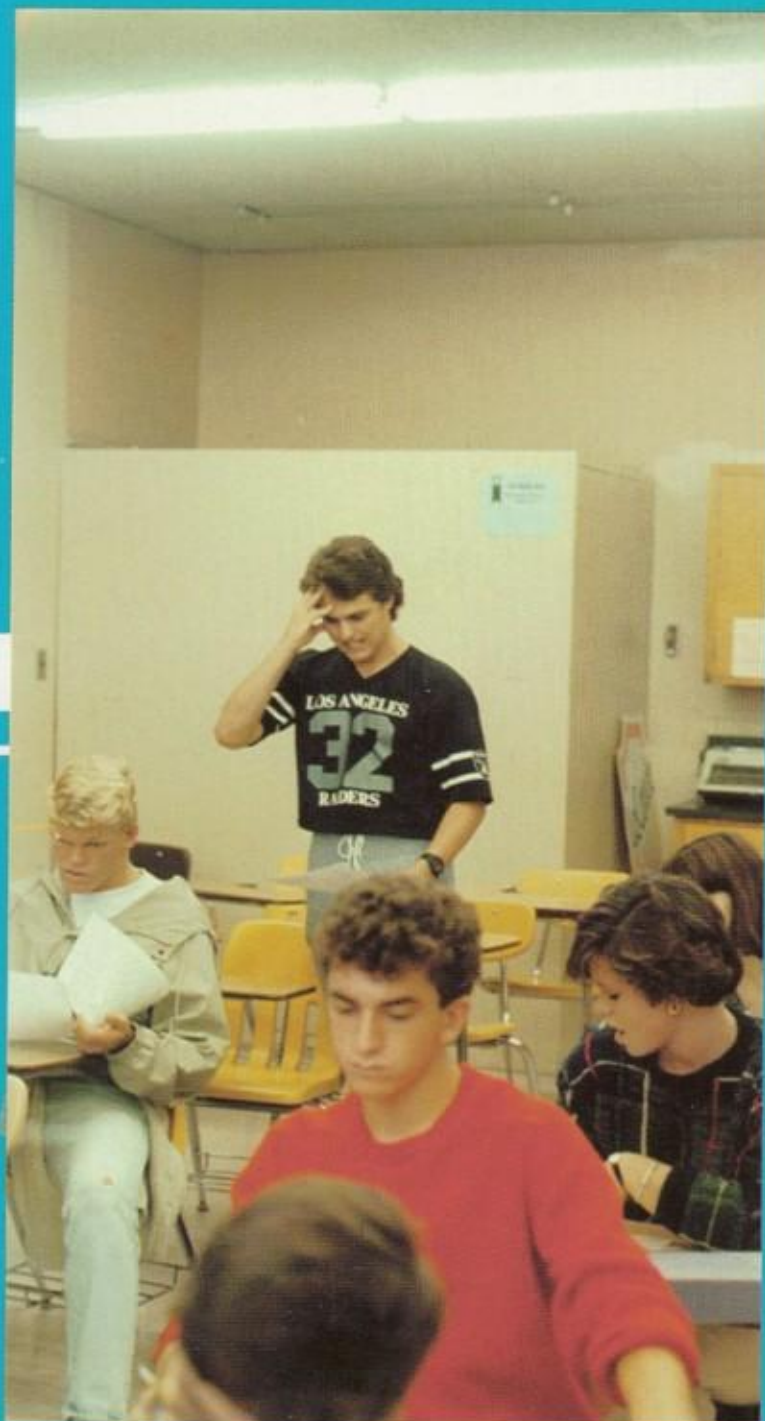

FRUSTRATIONS

Don't you hate it when you are late for class because your locker won't open, and your teacher doesn't believe you? Oh, it's no good. I just can't be bothered with writing an article for the yearbook. I've got way too many other things to deal with. I'm just about to snap. I guess I could write this after I study for English. I just don't understand how Shakespeare relates to my life . . . and how am I going to explain that grade to my parents? And I'm going to have to discover a vaccine for bone cancer in order to get an A in Biology. Plus, I have to think of something to tell Jerry about fourth period on Thursday. I'm so frustrated. And now I have to worry about where I'm going to get the money to pay for my brand new parking ticket. To top things off, I had a miserable practice and I'm bordering on exhaustion. I'm just going to get some sleep and write this in the morning.

Since the time of Pluto, the relationship between teacher and student has been thought of much like that of a cat and mouse, or that of bitter enemies until the end. But even Tom and Jerry had their share of good times together. And we at Omega noticed that around campus some students got caught up in this kind of thinking and befriended teachers outside of the classroom. Maybe this was a ploy by the teachers to draw the students away from safety, a mousetrap of sorts. But it seems more likely that we've entered into an era of good feelings, a period of detente. Maybe it is this kind of action that is necessary for students and teachers to peacefully coexist in the environment of the campus, side by side, like keys on a piano. Maybe Tom and Jerry could have learned something from our example. Teachers provide a lot for us ... Show your thanks to them, hug a teacher.

October 1, 1987. Millions of Southern Californians lie content in their beds. They get up to what appears to be a seemingly normal day. At exactly 7:47 A.M., the San Andreas Fault decides that Whittier, California should no longer be on the face of any map. Through heaping mounds of bricks, giant falling shards of glass and the screams of millions of southlanders scrambling to save their very souls. We saw the incredible wrath of mother nature let loose her awesome grip onto the same grounds which uphold the famed institution of La Canada High. The force of the quake was experienced in many ways. Some ran for shelter, some ran for the hills, some ran under the power lines, some ran to their lockers, some ate lunch, some ran back to give mom a second kiss and a few brave native Californians stayed and surfed the bridge. The evacuation went off like clockwork, the entire student body (like thousands of famished squirrels let loose in a peanut factory) headed straight for the football field. Everyone felt safe until a few geology buffs spread rumors about how any moment the football field could split open forming a huge black abyss which would suck down all those who patiently awaited for their parents to arrive. Through our turmoil, we remained safe. Like goodness triumphing over evil, the administration kept us safe from a potentially major catastrophe. So proud of this fact, that they even gave us an extra day to recover from the earthquake related stress. Whether it be the sound of an old typewriter, or the rumbling of a passing steamroller, we will always be reminded of the events which made that day a permanent memory etched upon our hearts.

Homecoming Extravaganza!!

Disneyland was the theme, Fun was the objective

This year's homecoming was a great success, with lots in store for all. The carnival had its annual sponge throw, pizza sale, and fresh cotton candy. The big surprise was the introduction of the Young Businessman's club, led by Matt Biggar and Blake Tennant, selling Spirit stickers and Wall Street Journals for a fair price. Joel Smith displayed a mind-boggling amount of spirit with his unusual skin tone of red and gold, very appropriate. Disneyland was the theme of the week, with Pirates of the Caribbean day and the like. There were many memories to be made that week, and they all had absolutely nothing to do with the Pleistone era.

MORE THAN HALF-TIME . . .

As the football game grew nearer to half-time, a huge hot-air balloon grew in size at the end of the field. When the gun shot was heard, four floats emerged preceeded by the homecoming court. Who would become queen? We would only find out after Jennifer Frohn emerged from the sky placing the crown upon the head of Vicki Boas. After we learned of the seniors' float, "Graduating Mickey Mouse" winning first place in the float building contest, Vicki disappeared into the night by way of hot air balloon only accompanied by her escort, Billy Phillips. They returned the following evening at the Homecoming Dance.

Queen And Princesses

Fine words for these fine ladies.

The fall of 1987 observed five beautiful young contestants competing fiercely for the right to be called Queen. The juniors were led by the prom commissioner Soraya Delawari and volleyball Debi DiBias. The senior princesses were equestrian team member Monique Lawrence and ASB Vice President Meredith Lincoln. Reigning surp supreme was Vicki Boas who is on both Varsity Tennis and the soccer team. Congratulations to each of these fine young ladies.

Homecoming Dance

Imagine the best homecoming dance you've ever been to, and this one was better. In fact, you looked upon Homecoming Week as a pyramid, then the dance was most definitely the pinnacle that capped off the foundation built during the week. Even Walt would have been proud of this one. But why was it such a success? It's impossible to pin it down to just one thing. It could have been the hypnotic effect of those strange silver strands hanging in the doorway. It could have been the whole concept of wishing upon a star. Maybe the barometric pressure was even responsible for the unusual behavior among kids of all ages. Whatever factors involved, they coalesced — into a temptation that brought throngs of people dressed semi-formally storming into the gymnasium. The place was rockin' as Del jammed with the Sensations, and as the usual freshman stayed until the end. We don't really know what caused the uproar, but more importantly a good time was had by all.

And The Dance

A Deserted School.

-or-

"Sometimes There's just no Campus life at all." says Bob.

For some, it's called truancy, for others it's just plain and simple. It's the pure absense of any form of human, animal, or vulcan being. I for one, think it is more than that, so I have done some investigating into the matter. The best way to start something like this is by asking oneself a few deep philosophical questions. Something like if a tree falls in the middle of a forest and no one is around to hear it, does it make a sound? Or, does the guy under the Mickey Mouse mask at Disneyland smile when you take his picture? How about this one: Do bears dance in the woods? After pondering these questions for awhile, one is ready to tackle what has been called a most prolific scientific undertaking in history. This happens to be the question, what goes on in a deserted school? The question was bugging the heck out of me. So here it is, These are my records for Saturday, Jan. 23, 1988, to find out what's up:

- 8:00 a.m.- go to Habib's
- 8:45 a.m.- stake out the premise
- 9:05 a.m.- park in an out-of-the-way-place
- 9:08 a.m.- casually walk through the back of the cage where everybody but seniors should park but they dont.
- 9:23 a.m.- I can feel it setting in, I think I'm going to have complete memory loss.
- 9:47 a.m.- observe
- 1:47 p.m.- I think I'm on to something
- 1:52 p.m.- Four large U-Hauls drive up to the front of the school. I must investigate.
- 2:07 p.m.- This is the time I realize I just might win. I may find out what happens when the school is not inhabited.
- 3:42 p.m.- I think they're on to me, I must flee.

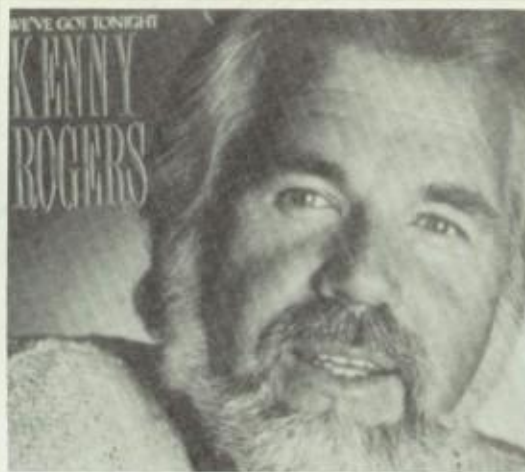

What I saw that day was truly an experience that will not soon be forgotten. At first, I couldn't remember what went wrong with my plan so I decided to bring it back through the ancient form of hypnosis. I can see it oh so clearly now, there were large gerbils festering in and about the school. They were doing this with a blatant disregard for the school rule that states there will be no public display of dancing rodents. I thought that was bad enough, but when they pulled out their "I love Nikita Krushchev" celebratory headbands, I had to put a stop to it. I quickly grabbed the most convenient magic lasso and "Roped those puppies" together and sent them on their merry way to possibly terrorize some other uninhabited place of learning. I don't consider myself a hero for what I did, but I was just glad I was there to help. I suppose the basic precept to the story is: just because there aren't people around a school, it doesn't mean it's deserted.

Kenny Does Monte Carlo

"He must have come out of the wood-work," exclaimed Josie.
"No, he didn't. He came straight from the set of Dolly," said Theodore. There he was, in all of his glamour, Kenny "The Gambler" Rogers. This is a prime example of what made December 5, 1987 so spectacular. He started out with a new and unheard rendition of the song that made him what he is today. That song, if you haven't already guessed was "The Gambler." A little something like this: On a warm summer's evening on a train bound for nowhere. I met up with a gambler. We were both too tired to speak. You all know the middle part so I'll get right to the meat. You've got to know when to hold 'em, know when to fold them. Know when to walk away, know when to run. You never count your money, when you're sittin' at the table. They'll be time enough for counting when the dealin's done. I personally began to weep when all the dance attendees started clapping in unison. Right now if you're saying to yourself, "Hey I went to that dance and I didn't see any of that," do not fret because Kenny may be brought back next year and inside sources are saying that he may have exotic dancers with him.

The Christmas Dance Royalty

Winter-Fest!

A Holiday First.

Winterfest. The word brings to thought the festive time of winter. Dashing through the snow in a one horse open sleigh comes to mind quickly. That is just what almost happened during the last week of school before Christmas vacation. What a heap of joy it was. It was a wet week with snow capped mountains in the background and music in the cafeteria. Who could forget that jolly old elf Andy Claus begging people to sit on his lap for a picture for $3.00? Hard to believe, but true. There was master Auten leading the dating game. What profound answers were given by Steve, Bill, and Larry. They just made you stop and think. The best part of Winterfest was the ringing in of the New Year by the senior class. Amidst the raining shower of Martenelli's and popcorn, was Bob, Father Time, and Mark, a very large baby New Year. A Toast was given by the seniors to a great New Year. 2:24 marked the end of Winterfest, but that was not the end because the memories will stay in our hearts forever-Goodbye 1987.

WINTERFEST started off a little rainy, but kicked in on a sunny Friday. Clockwise from upper left: Santa visits our campus with a strange likeness to Andy Brooks. Chuck Siegler clad in his holiday cap and pajamas on a lively Pajama Day. Winter is here as seen in the spirit of these girls. A lonely pocket brandishes a candy cane, the symbol of the season. Snow in the San Gabriel's gives Winterfest a true wonderland flavor.

Winterfest

The Heat Grows On . . .

I was just standing there in the quad. I guess you could say that I was just an onlooker, an innocent bystander. Winterfest was in its last phases. The Yule-Tide carnival had brought with it a great excitement to the campus that warmed the hearts of teachers and students alike. Of course some people said that it was just another bean in the burrito of life, an insignificant chick in the hencoop of our existence, and that 63 years from now no one would care. 63 years is a long time. The last day of Winterfest was to consist of an innocent celebration simulating the ringing in of the new year. If only we had been that lucky. The countdown was okay. Ya, that was fine. And for one brief moment there was a great silence, a stillness, a peacefulness, and everything was placid and calm and quiet and wonderful. A wild frenzy ensued. Students turned bottles of cider into powerful cannons and erupted into a great carbonation fight. Then some joker thought that it would be really cool to bring a pink elephant into the quad. At this point, the administration fired a volley of rubber bullets into the crowd, spreading panic and terror with every shot, and really messing up the newly seeded lawn. It's amazing how easily a few bad apples can spoil the bunch.

CARBONATION was added fun this week.

HUNDREDS of hand-painted "winterfest" glasses were handed out to the class of '88 to toast in the New Year.

FATHER TIME points out the one minute left until the "Mock New Year."

JUMPING AND CHEERING was heard throughout the Quad as everyone celebrated the end of 1987.

A Perfect End To Mardi Gras

Top: This year's court was overflowing with fine young gents. Left: The boys are back in town. Above: "It's amazing what you can do with greasy Kid Stuff."

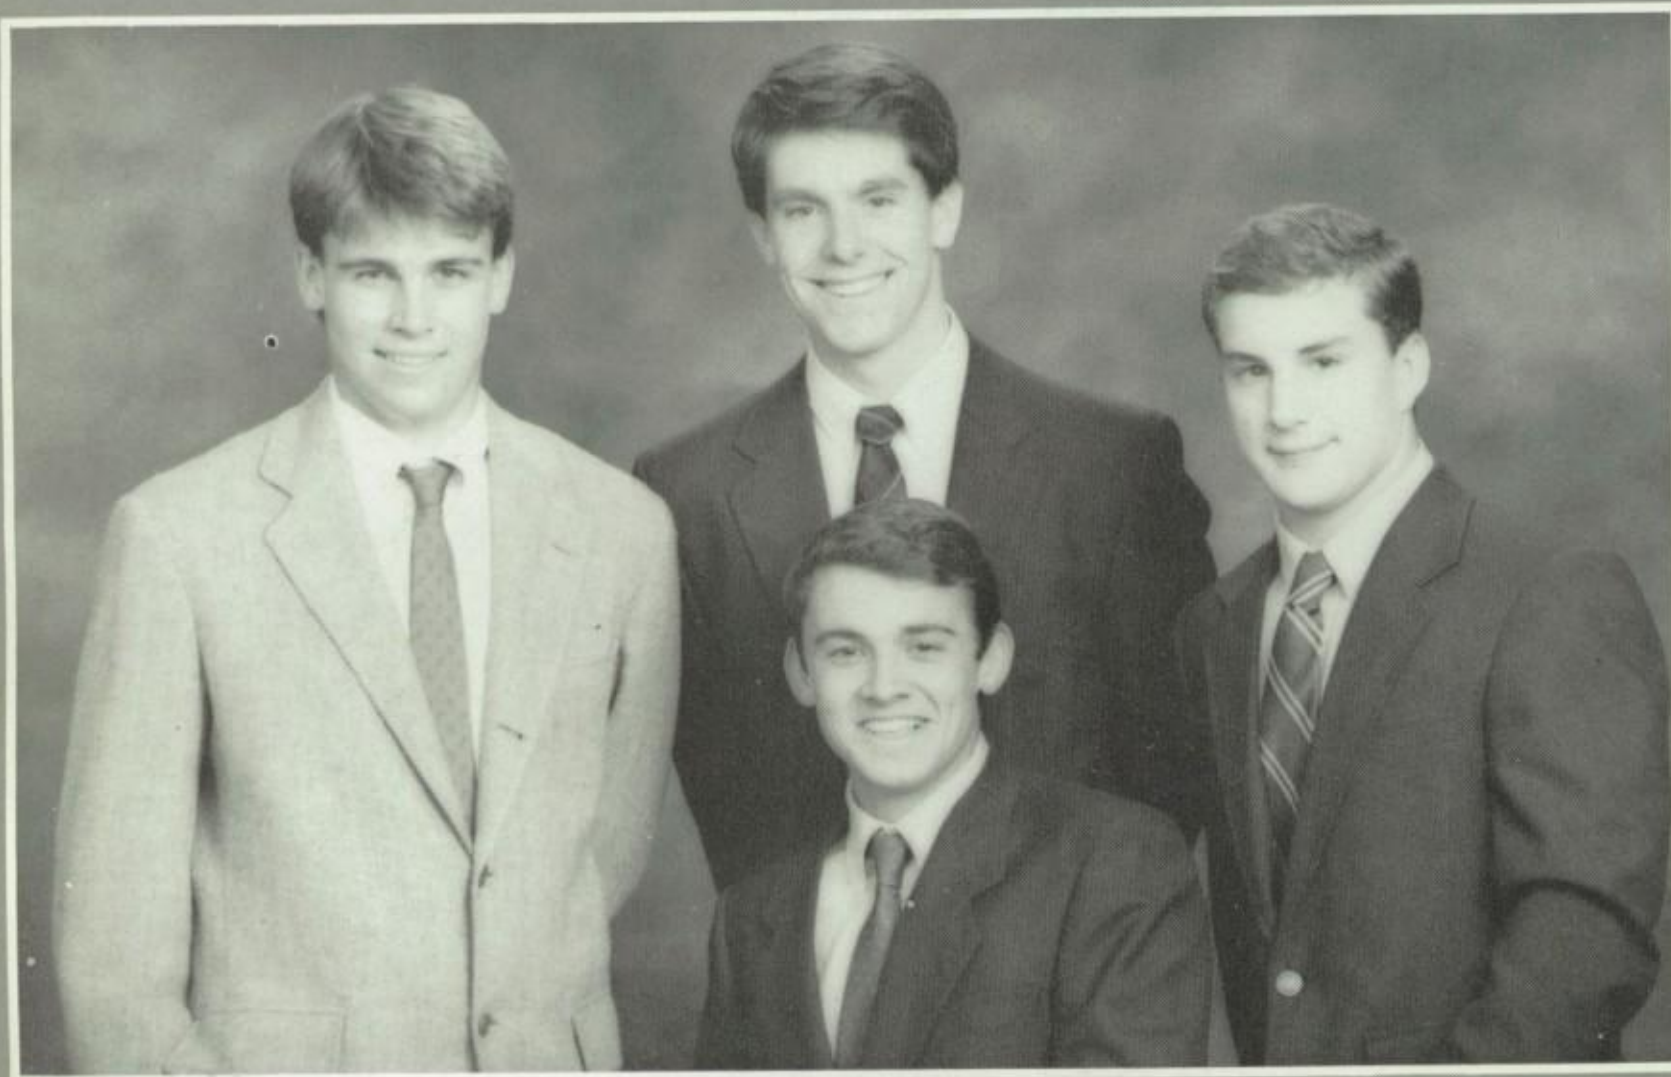

Sean and Amy are just good friends. I swear. Jane and Bill, on the other hand, were great friends after BILL was crowned Backwards Dance King. Everyone at the dance was filled with admiration, respect, and other stuff when they watched Bill get crowned the crown of royalty. Standing close-by were senior princes Matt Bigger and Scott Cameron, junior prince Chris Ackerman, Sophomore Mark Romano, and freshman J.J. Reynolds. For them it was an honor just to be on the court.

For the rest of the dancers at this Mardi Gras bash, there was music, fun, and friends all under a big tent with clear walls and a big hole in the top. Everyone seemed to have a great time despite the fact the giant panda bears couldn't be on hand to crown the king. A selected few, however, did happen to see pink elephants, but that's a whole different story! THE END.

“how we had a successful and inexpensive PROM.”

It was a great prom this year, but if only we had known then, what we know now. We realize that about that time of the year, most guys start dreading the fact that their entire bank account might not cover the cost of one lousy evening.

But who says the prom has to cost a lot of money? It is our purpose to help you enjoy future proms at a minimal cost. Therefore, we have developed these six simple steps to ensure a great evening for all.

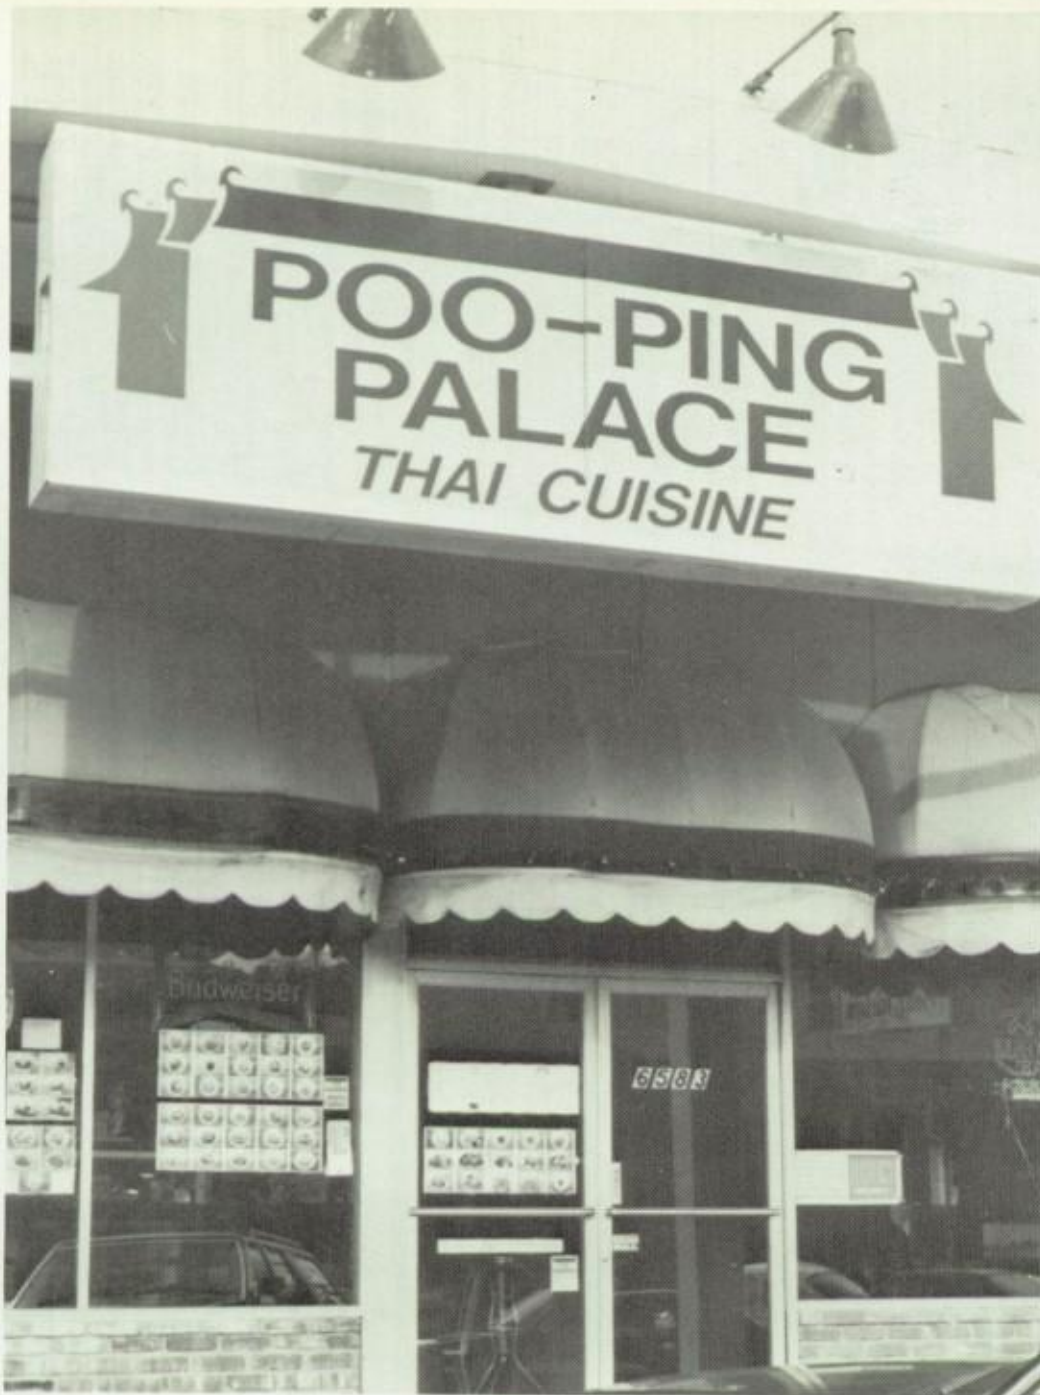

Why rent your tux from one of those places outside of L.C. that charge $50-$60 a night when you can not only stay in L.C., but also keep it under the cost of a pair of socks at Neiman-Marcus?

... And while you're there, go ahead and get flowers for your corsage ...

To lower the cost of tickets for everyone, pick up your own music.

Now you must be thinking of a place to eat. Well, for an interesting change of pace, try the tantalizing taste of Thai cuisine.

Limo's costing anywhere from $50-$300 per hour are no longer practical, especially when you can rent this beauty for $29.95 ...

... with your own chauffeur.

As you can see, you don't have to sacrifice quality if you don't want to spend a lot of money. By following these six easy steps, we hope the class of '89 has the very best in senior proms.

Thank you for your support,
Moose and Tom.

After a wonderful evening of dancing till ... well, at least past midnight, don't even think of paying $30 for pictures that are really only worth 990 words. Just drop by the school library for 15¢ a copy.

At L.C.

Many times life in La Cañada can be a little blah. So, students are left to their own devices to think of exciting things to do. When that fails they're left to boredom which breeds imagination, which breeds fun, which created this. So, here you go off the wall at LC!!

Decisions, decisions, decisions, nothing but decisions. No human has ever made so many crucial decisions in a nine month period of time than the high school senior does. All across America, families with seniors argue and disagree between the months September and June. Fun Halloween? Huh! Fun Thanksgiving? Huh! Fun Christmas? Huh! Fun Valentines Day? Huh! Huh! NO! I didn't enjoy a Halloween party, I was studying for my SAT. NO! I didn't enjoy my Thanksgiving. I was filling out my Cal State application! No! I didn't enjoy Christmas, I was deciding which college would shape the rest of my life! Did I enjoy Valentine's Day? Hardly, I was breaking up with Margo using my best lines like, "We need to start dating other people." "It's my senior year. "Ah, the life of a senior, well just take a look ...

Dunlap Turney will never cease to amaze me. Those people who toil for hours on end over our senior pictures, they are the real heroes of the modern age. Anyone who can take Jeff Eichenhoffer out of his old Ford and make him look like a GQ cover model deserves recognition. They transform our girls and make them look as if they just stepped off the plane from their Europe tour of the high fashion world. The young men of L.C. come across looking like lawyers or even Devry graduates. Hail to Dunlap, Turney, Hail all Hail!

When I'm forty and I look back on my high school years, I wonder what I'll remember. Will it be the classes I had? No. Or will it be the teachers? A little. The thing I'll remember most are those hundreds of little conversations that took place in the Quad. Trying to help a friend through a relationship, remembering a party, or trying to solve nuclear war. Basically, trying to spew out as much information a human brain can retain in 29 minutes. What an injustice! Just think of how much we could have accomplished if lunch were longer!

Omega Recognized

Omega recognized seniors. A tradition once again brought forth in the 1988 school year by the Omega Yearbook staff. These students have been chosen for outstanding achievements at La Canada High School. Starting from the top row on the left are: Mark Hansen (Varsity quarterback and A.S.B. President), Blake Tennant (exemplary G.P.A. and ex good-guy), Mike Lowe (incredible grades and a positive attitude), Greg Givens (Basketball star and accomplished musician), Andy Brooks (Enthusiastic yell-leader), Sean Hawkins (Yearbook genius and up-and-coming filmmaker), Cory Ryken (Soccer star, musician, and artist), Steve Kalb (A benefit to the athletic community), Matt Biggar (inspiring young businessman with high academic standards), Scott Cameron (a comical master in the Fine Arts), Melinda O'Brien (volleyball and basketball "sensation"), Vicki Boas (Homecoming queen and sports star), David Paladino (Football captain), Steve Tomasulo (Class

Clown with high G.P.A.), Bob Sullivan (A campus leader/amateur psychologist), Vince Fazzi (very good at what he does, from sports to art), Tom Brown (excellent leadership qualities), Adrian Ong (High I.Q. and extreme cranial capacity), Larry Welk (Senior Class President and joyful morning announcer), Brian Ecker (also very good at what he does, from art to comedy), Anna Batoe (Keywanettes leader and freelance photographer), Kris Puttler (Volleyball champ and wonderful person), Trina Havilick (Aquatic wonder and academically self-challenging), Nancy Chamberlain (excellent in leadership and firm stander on issues), Jane Leisner (Yearbook editor and volleyball star), Kim Fisher (intelligent and high personality standard), Rain Bachand (Newspaper editor-in-chief and strong G.P.A.), Liz Mc Donald (Speech and leadership abilities), Sherry Plowman (Basketball and an academically caring student), and last, but certainly not least, Tammy Ketabgian, (a very smart and seriously-oriented student).

At La Canada High, anything can happen on any given day. On one day, you may be content with eating lunch and smiling in the quad. Whereas on any other day, the mysterious aura of the buildings and its inhabitants may drive one to let loose their inner feelings and perform strange, unearthly feats within the hallways of the institution. If you are lucky, you may spot one of these rare occurrences as our photographer captured Sean, Chrissy, and Katie on film.

Christel, so how did you like being a FRESHMAN? You are a really great friend and I loved all of the fun and exciting adventures you took me along on when ever I spent the night at your house. Listening to your brother sing till 2:00 in the morning was really well...uh...interesting. You are a really sweet person and

The Future. It is always there but often unnoticed. To the Senior class of 1988, the future is of prime importance. Where are we going? How are we getting there? These questions constantly pass through the minds of many seniors as they prepare for college and a looming adulthood. On this trek through life will come many trials, but also many joys. For the bad times in life are what make the great times so great. We will set out to succeed in the goals we set, and fulfill the dreams we make. But no matter how old we get, we will always be seniors deep inside. As someone wise once said, "It is not the Seniors who move ahead, but it is the future which moves past." A great deal of encouragement is given to those Seniors which the future moves past.

I'm glad you're on flag this year and that you still will be on it next year. Hey! If you weren't there wouldn't be any cool people left to save us from total geekdom!

(Geekdom?) oh well. Call me over the summer so ~~you~~^{we} can do something. Don't break too many of those guys hearts that all want to go out with you. I'm running out of room so I guess I'll stop writing. What a geek! Bye!  Melissa JUNIORS. What exactly does that word mean? Well Webster's Dictionary lists it as: any of several game birds native to Malaysia and India, having combs and throat wattles (WAIT! that's jungle fowl!) Oh here it is! a third year student in high school. Well that pretty much sums it up. The following pages represent those people in their third year of high school. Read on won't you?

As we come to the end of our Junior section, as well as our Junior year, memories flood our minds. Three years of high school good times have gone and one more is to come. In a few months WE will be seniors, WE will dominate the school, WE will be the ones lower classmen idolize, and WE will be the class everyone remembers- THE CLASS OF 1989.

good time, I wish I could stop it and stay permanently in that way. U know? Anyway, as I write this I think about how much we missed out on by not becoming better friends, but we still have time for that. I'm sorry about what I said b-4 about the entire page. I didn't mean it that way. So on to bigger & braver things..... will u still be in auxiliary next yr? I'm so stoked about cheerleading. off the subject a little, but do you remember the bra that we put on the door nbs. of course you do. That was so hilarious.

SOPHOMORES

I wonder what the guy thought when he opened the door. Shut, my foot just ~~fell~~ fell asleep. Maybe I should take ~~more~~ no-noz. just kidding. well I'm finally done writing in this small column

This years Sophomore class has shown a wide range of people; everything from 4.0's to models to "Rastafarians". They have potential to be a great class. Take for example the amount of school spirit that went into building their float, "Spartans of the Caribbean." To the right, school spirit is shown by this class on the faces of the people during our assemblies. Upper right, Vance Mitchell and Victor Noerdlinger try to "hang" with the big boys. Sorry guys, maybe in a few years, inches and pounds. Lower right, Sophomore Spartan football players in awe of the J.V. cheerleader performance.

The freshman year. What a year indeed! The freshman year is a time where the eighth grade graduates explore the new opportunities offered in the exciting world of high school. Too young to drive, and too old for ding dong ditch, freshmen tend to hang out at Round Table Pizza and crash Saint George dances. It is in this section that we will explore the obscure life of the Freshman to try and analyze their curious behavior.

It has been said that the Freshman year is the time where the individuals thoughts and goals and objectives are formed. This year is more or less the very beginning of adulthood as opinions are formed that may hold the rest of ones life. It seems that the freshman year might be the year that Holden Caulfield speaks of when he said, "... if they're running and they don't look where they're going I have to come out from somewhere and catch them ... I'd just be the Catcher in the Rye ..." It appears that strong academic disciplines and intense successful desires must begin at this time as college is a mere four years away. Holden Caulfield wished he could be present at this crucial time to make sure that these freshmen head off in the right direction and "look where they're going". The class of 1991, has a lot of work to do as soon as it grows tired of Saint George dances and Round Table.

The first year in high school can be one of the most memorable experiences a person can have in her or his life. This novice year is chock full of exciting and new fangled ideas that one has to explore and possibly try-on in the front window of a major department store or other place of dress. There are also major changes a person goes through when they enter a place of higher learning as opposed to the area we all like to call "the access road". As we all remember back in the eighth grade there were certain rules we all had to abide by to avoid the irreparable damage that may have occurred otherwise. If someone was caught leaning back in their chair or using college ruled paper or even something as trivial as using a flint in any way other than its original purpose may have resulted in several days of eraser clapping. On the other hand, the ninth grade would consider these unworthy of any sort of reprimanding. A punishment would only be considered if the person was caught in the act of a misdemeanor or public sacrifice. But behold freshman, your first year in high school is generally a positive time of life. After all, when the 1987-88 school year is over you get to become something even better, a sophomore.

Over the past decade at L.C.H.S. the precious resources of freshman has been greatly underestimated. Used only as a tool for hazing or public ridicule, upperclassmen have overlooked the abilities of the average freshman. Granted in the world political arena, a freshman doesn't amount to a hill of beans, but in a high school setting, they are no less than priceless. In some Third World countries, freshman may hold high government positions and a large share of financial responsibility. But instead we turn our backs on these poor creatures of conformity, ignoring their desperate pleas for help. Maybe this is the easiest thing to do. We all need a scapegoat for our aggressions. But wouldn't it be just as easy to shoot puppies or plunder?

No two people are alike. Some are very similar, but no two are alike. With world population what it is today, this fact allows for tremendous variation from the normal as far as individuals are concerned. This has resulted in a good deal of strange people roaming our halls. But just what causes strangeness? Is it pure genetics or just a frighteningly random disease, and what role does our environment play in determining how strange we are? We took a probing look at people in our school today and came up with a rough profile of the typical strange individual, much like Geraldo Rivera would do. What we found was that they are usually from somewhere near Bismarck, have a consistent craving for plum pudding, and have at least one relative who has died penniless and insane. They could be some freshman, or your own best friend. The important thing to remember is that this condition can be overcome. If someone around you displays warning signs, don't worry. It's probably just a phase.

FOOD!

Don't Eat in Class!

Classrooms and food will always wreak havoc upon the high schools of America. Whether or not this slight infraction upon school rules is to be taken as a serious matter is not important. This combination of schooling and eating has always been a large part of student life. Is the eating of food in classrooms merely a protest upon the minimal time to do lunch during the school day, or is it just a part of the rebellious attitude of high school students? The question is rhetorical but go ahead and think about it if you feel like it. Anyways, food in classrooms have become the salt and pepper of the high school institution. Sneaking a twinkie as the teacher turns her back towards the green horizon in front of the classroom helps to add excitement to a student's life. Concealing a coca-cola under one's desk can create a challenge to a student unlike any other and often more difficult than the academic problem itself. We, at Omega, are not condoning this classroom behavior in any way. We are merely presenting the facts and possible justifications for such behavior. We would like however to recommend a few ways to get the satisfaction of eating in classrooms while not creating injustice by breaking our favorite school rule. Before entering a classroom, take a large quantity of food, perhaps a whole banana or a submarine sandwich and shove it in your mouth. You can then go into the class and chew your food while not actually committing the entire action of eating. Moreover, we must warn you that there may be side effects to such activity. We conclude by now acknowledging baseball, apple pie, Chevrolet, and classroom eating as the definition of America.

Food: We center our very lives around it. We wake and we eat. We suddenly stop our schooling and stall our intellectual advancement to eat. We come home, stop watching television and even, for a rare chosen few, stop doing our homework to eat. Of course I am referring to breakfast, lunch and dinner respectively, excluding the multiple interruptions to snack. Something we all have in common is late night snacks. They are an ordinary ritual of every teenager's life. At home, one wakes up with mad hunger pains and raids the refrigerator. We have all shared those late night hunger attacks, especially those that hit us on the weekends. In n Out, Tommy's and Wolfe Burgers, for the more demanding appetite, often lure starving teens especially from La Canada, to buy massive amounts of substance. The food is usually consumed so fast that it seems tasteless and bland, but it is oh so rewarding. After a few triple cheeseburgers at Tommy's or double-doubles at In n Out, one can quickly fall asleep with their satisfied stomach. The world will always need food to stay alive. With the variety of food in our surrounding area, teenagers will always have an overwhelming capacity to inhale food. Although our memories of "Tommy's runs" and In n Out visits may be faint, each and everyone of us will always have a little In n Out or Tommy's as part of us. Our food preferences will no doubt change as we transform from high school students to adults, but we will never forget how much it shaped our lives as we grew and grew in high school.

Food. We as a people have made a mockery of its very existence. From the very beginnings of our lives we have been told not to play with our food. We have thrown creativity out the window and taken this kind of narrow-minded stance towards a subject with so much potential, ignoring its importance to the history of man. Food was essential to the basic idea of the barter system. In fact white man bought Manhattan from the Indians for just a few dried apricots. The pyramids of Egypt are believed to have been carved from mammoth fruit cakes and then laced with a preservative. Of course the history of food is not without its black marks. There was that whole thing with the apple at Eden, and the eating of grapes is almost synonymous with the fall of the Roman empire. In modern times, though, we have found ways to exploit food's better points. A man in Vermont has baffled architects by constructing a tower using nothing but rotting vegetables. Researchers in Des Moines have proposed fireproof shingles made of sausage casings. And of course students of past unruly classes always found a way to turn a few spare apples into an afternoon of fun. So next time you look at that useless orange peel, remember that you could be throwing away the hopes of a future generation.

Weekends don't just grow on trees, you know. That's why a good deal of preparation is essential to squeeze every ounce of that sponge we call the weekend. A certain amount of planning may be just enough to expand the limits of this time. A few key areas stand out. Transportation is important to have settled. Some folks feel that riding the train is often the best method, and some just don't care just so long as they get there. Comradery would also be a good thing to put into a weekend. A few good belly laughs among friends are hard to match. If at all possible, find some way to get a high fever for at least a short period of time. Being delirious can sometimes add a whole new perspective to a usually dull world. The key factor, however, is organization. Try using a flow chart or just constant mental review to keep your state of readiness at a perpetual high. It never hurt anyone to be organized. So go into the weekend with a charged attitude. And come back on Monday with a hunger for knowledge.

Mr. Weekend Has Arrived!

Like St. Nick on Christmas Eve,
Mr. Weekend Appears out of Nowhere.

It's three o'clock on a Friday afternoon and already the air is filled with an exciting tapping in preparation for the long two and a half day stretch. The weekend seems to bring a purpose to the lives of students outside of their academic endeavors, for some of the more competitive people, their purpose is to win. Others prefer to take losing as a necessary part of the game. Games are sometimes played during the holidays. Much like the holiday season, weekends are full of festivity. of course visions of sugarplums don't dance in your head or anything like that, but the weekend possesses something that the pilgrims could never quite grasp. It's Mr. Weekend, an embodiment of all that is truly exceptional in a weekender. He's someone who could start a disco inferno one night and float down a quiet river in a gondola the next. He's an extreme man, some would say too extreme. Combining the practicality of a polyester leisure suit with a sharp mind for trivia, he's one who never has to break the ice, but simply melts it. Certainly we could all learn something from this prophet of daring, this agent of excitement, that is to explore fully the potential of these weekends, for they come but 52 times a year. So regardless of how you plan to pass your oh so precious time, keep your feet in the ground and keep reaching for the stars.

No, there will never be an end . . .

There will never be an end to student life. For as long as there are students, there will be student life. But what is it? Could it be the endless supply of school textbooks that are thrust into students' bookbags each year; an amount of books so large that it seems to defy the limits of our vast imaginations? No, student life isn't all studying and testing. Student life is but the escape from that. Student life is that which keeps one sane from the hectic insanity of homework and essays. All that we do, (discluding homework) and all that is thought we do, is what puts the life into it. For as long as there are students, there will always be student life, but we should remain students for life because we are, in a sense, students of life. And whether Blake said that line about "squirrels being let loose in a peanut factory" or I did, we must remember that it doesn't matter who said it, but what was said. All kidding aside, the flying squirrel doesn't mean anything.

football . . .

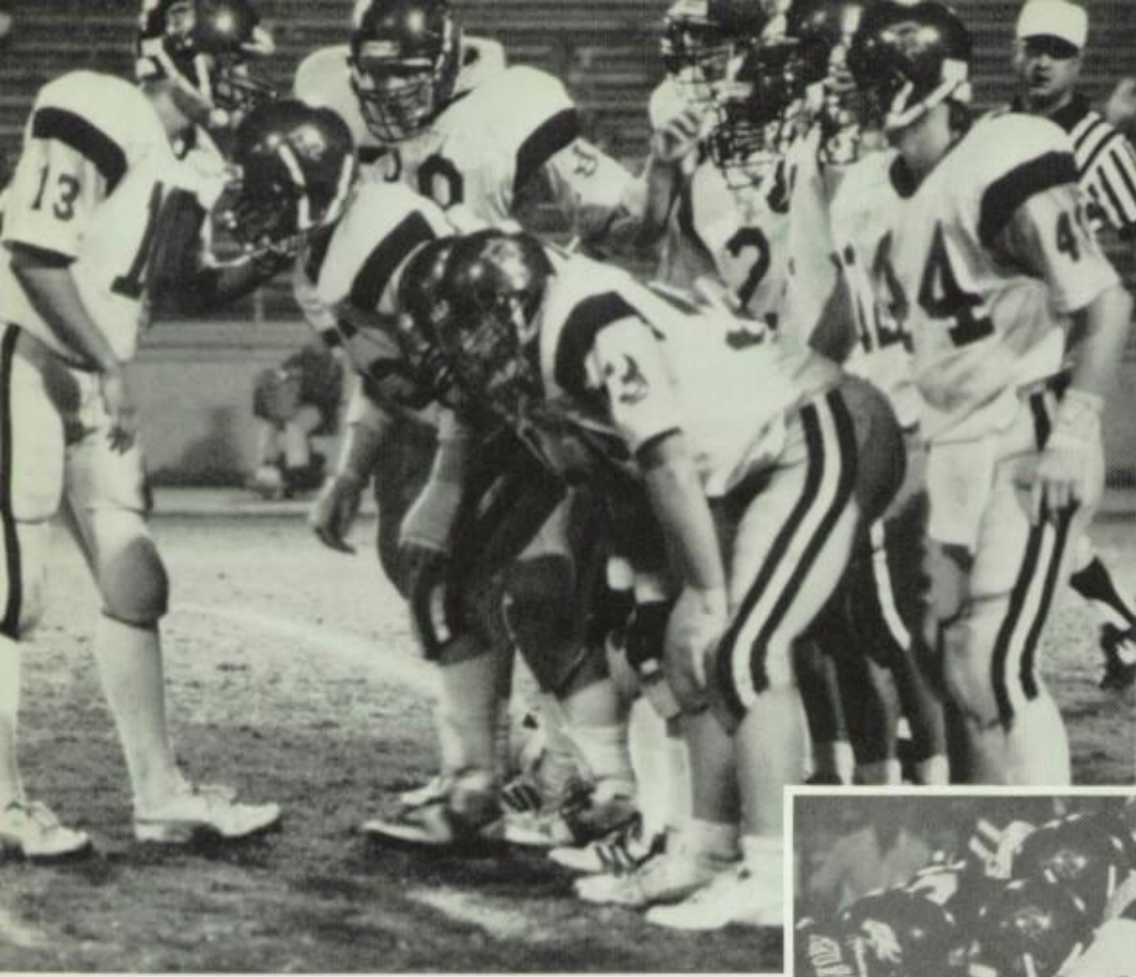

It started in the spring with rumors of a new coach. It all came together on a cool September night with a victory over CV. This was only the beginning of the best football season LC has seen in seven years. The Spartans rolled to an 8-1-1 record on the season, and finished 4-0-1 in league.

There were many highlights to the year besides just the wins and losses. Coach Larez tackling Rhody, Monday running, and Dino's in-the-air conversion attempt were just a few bright spots in 1987. Coach Rob also earned a spot in the hearts of many with his frequent tirades.

And while Pomona finished 0-10 overall, we cruised to our first Rio Hondo League Championship since 1980. We advanced to CIF quarterfinals with a victory over Santa Maria, but were knocked out in our second loss to Burroughs. So a team that wasn't supposed to do too much wound up with an overall record of 9-2-1, and etched its memory onto the wall of the locker room and into the minds of the players forever.

SOPHOMORES

1987 showed the emergence of a new breed of sophomores, and the building of an encouraging tradition for the Varsity's future. The sophomores matched the Varsity's record of 4-0-1 in league and earned a league title in doing so. The team lived up to its reputation and fielded a large squad of competitors. Even though the squad lacked size, it was not without hard hitters and a lot of speed in the backfield. The sophomores were able to get some experience in the varsity level as most of the team moved up to varsity in the two playoff games. The sophomores and juniors should put together a great squad for another year of great La Canada High School Football.

They are much more than freshmen. In fact, fresh doesn't even begin to describe these men. They are funky fresh at the least. Due to several cancelled games the future varsity gridders got off to a not so good start, but wound up 2-0 in their first two league games. They had a chance to conquer the league title, but were not able to pull it together in the final three games. The team has many high hopes for the future and will no doubt take up where the sophomores left off.

"I've never seen anything like it!"

The 1987 Girls Varsity Volleyball team had another successful season, ending league with a 9-1 record. In C.I.F., the girls advanced to the second round where they faced number one ranked San Gabriel. Although the Spartans lost, the match went to five games. The San Gabriel Matadors ended up not only winning C.I.F., but also the State Championship. Throughout league, many of the girls turned in outstanding performances resulting in First Team All-League honors for Melinda O'Brien and Jane Leisner, Second Team All-League for Jenny Pasqua and Erin Weaver, and Honorable Mention for Gabie Adams and Amy Colyar. Last, but not least, was the Rio Hondo League M.V.P. Kris Puttler who, for the second consecutive year, was awarded this title.

Although the La Canada Spartan water polo team faced the agony of defeat more often than the thrill of victory in pre-season play, they proved to be genuine contenders in the Rio Hondo league. After facing powerful teams like Loyola, Muir, Whittier, and La Serna, LC was prepared to take on one of the toughest 2A water polo leagues in the Southern Section. La Canada lost only twice to San Marino, once to South Pasadena, and once to Burbank (ugh!). The team finished third in league, qualifying for a CIF playoff berth.

La Canada's first and only CIF opponent was strong El Rancho High. This game was sure to be one of the toughest matchups of the year. Subsequently, LC lost by a close score of 12-9, thus ending their season. The team was very successful in league considering that both San Marino and South Pasadena advanced to the semi-finals. Congratulations on another excellent season, and good luck to next year's team!

In 1987-88, the Boys Varsity Basketball team enjoyed its most successful season ever. Under the direction of second year head-coach Tom Hofman, the Spartans compiled an awesome 23 win- 2 loss regular season record for an amazing .920 winning percentage- the best in school history. Lead by the outstanding play of Rio Hondo League M.V.P. Chad Givens, the Spartans dominated league play (10-0) and captured their first Rio League title since 1982.

The leading scorer and rebounder of the team was junior center Chad Givens, who averaged 23 points and 11 boards a game. Senior point guard Cary Kwasizur dished off a team high ten assists a game, while junior Chris Jones lobbed in a total of 34 three pointers. Senior Greg Givens once again played superior defense, shutting down the best player of every Spartan opponent. Senior Tae Kwan Lee, despite consistently fouling out, contributed greatly at the forward spot. The team got great play off the bench from Mike Hanson, Greg Thompson, Dennis Woo, John Corpolongo, and Olivier Van Hamme. The Spartans were also sparked by the play of crowd pleaser Billy Farnum, who poured in an amazing 22 points in one single quarter of play.

The mighty Spartans finished the regular season ranked No. 6 out of 76 2-A Division teams in Southern California. As of press time the team was preparing for the C.I.F. Championship Tournament in which they are expected to do very well.

This years J.V. Basketball team faired better than anyone had expected. In his second year as head coach, Jeff Stephens took the 87-88 team to an undisputed league championship. After a shaky 5-5 start, the team regrouped and went undefeated in league with a 10-0 record, 15-5 overall.

girl's basketball.

The Varsity team: Julie Miller, Sandi Stroud, Meg Fitzgerald, Yolanda Davidian, Melinda O'Brien, Leslie White, Donna Forster, Robin Grimes, Sherry Plowman, Julie Johnson, Monica Fat, and Kim Boyd.

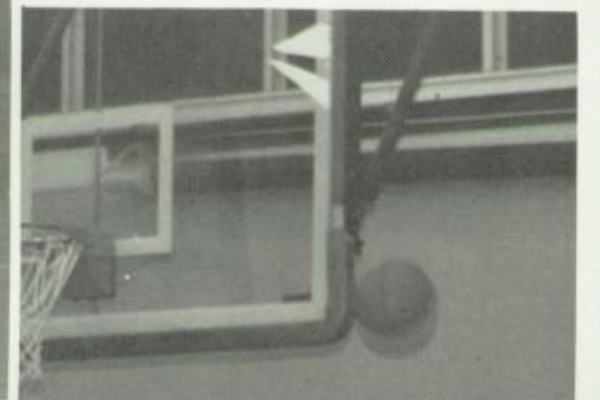

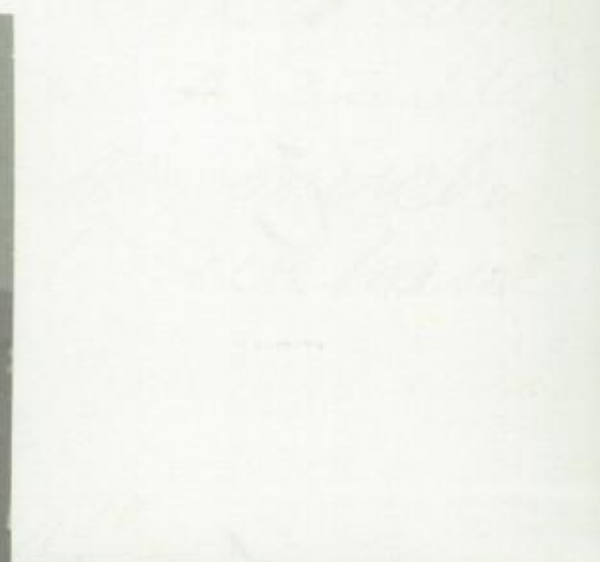

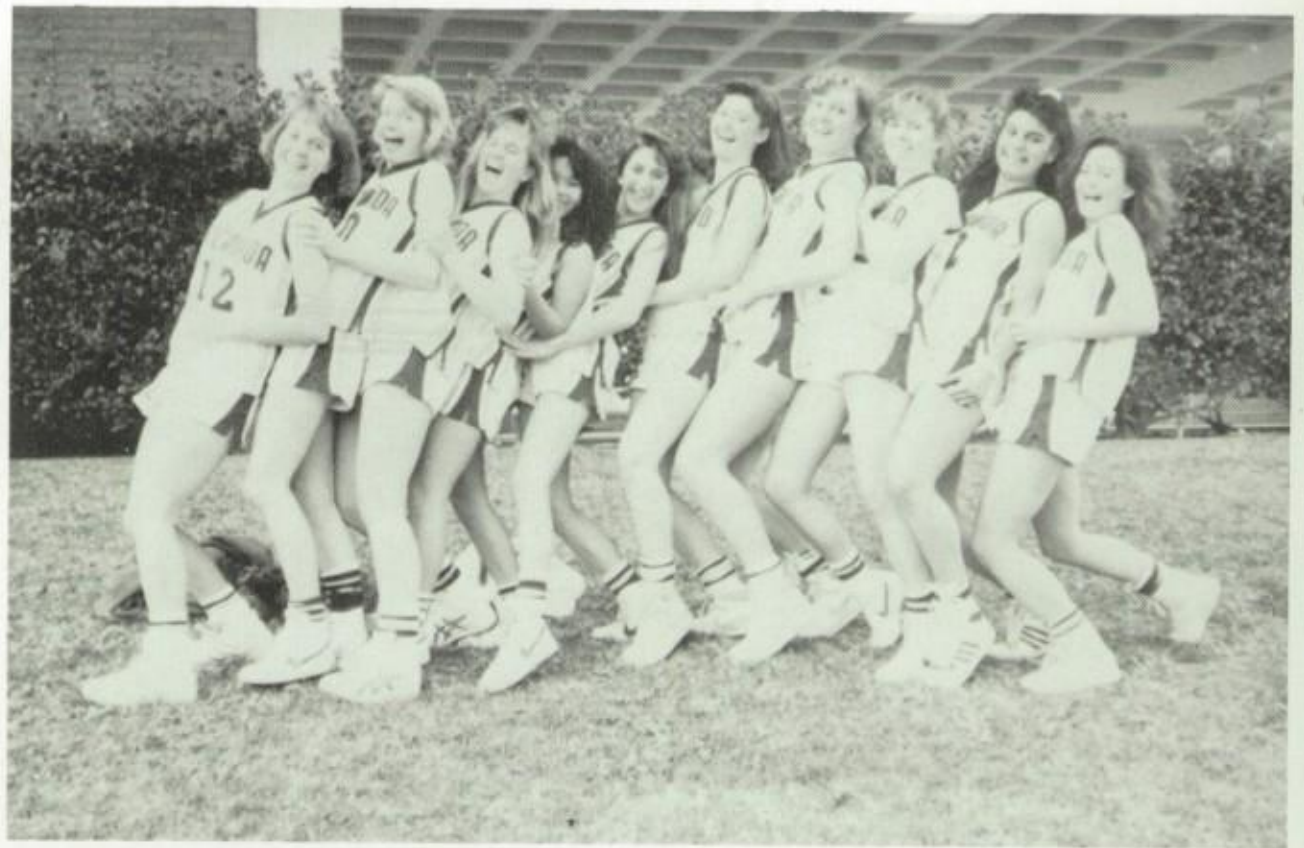

The Varsity had a chance to prove they were tough fighters this year. The girls battled their way into CIF playoffs by defeating Monrovia to tie for third place in league. This led to a tie-breaker once again against Monrovia, The Wildcats. After a second win the girls advanced to a wild card game in which they were victorious. Unfortunately the girls' winning streak was stopped in San Luis Obispo by Arroyo Grande High School. The girls had an extremely successful season.

The Varsity this year had an extremely successful season. They finished strong with a fight into CIF and a road trip to San Luis Obispo to play Arroyo Grande with new spirit and killer instinct. The team rampaged through the league to finish 14 and 10 which puts them third place overall in league and second in the Village Christian tournament.

JV's Are Champions

The J.V.'s had a great season this year and ended up with a league co-championship. The girls were completely committed to the team. They were put on a tough diet of cheese monkeys and gummy dinosaurs. Through their games, a few lapses were spotted, and a few clipboards abused, but besides that all went well. Coach Gillan was often seen questioning the referees. Despite the lunacy and double the joy the team wound up with a winning season.

The J.V. team members include: Sean Evans, Elizabeth Ricks, Desiree Powell, Claire Fehrenbacher, Kim Klausner, Jenny Friend, Laura Klausen, Pat Gillan, Talin Der Grigorian, Sandesha Tendulkar, Jessica Nelson, Wendy Oh, Heather Rider

Christel,

So this year is finally over! Believe it or not! Guess what that means! It means we aren't little freshmen anymore! Now we are sophomores! I am so glad that we have become better friends ~~at last~~ I am also glad that we were in the same small group! Let's get together and do something before I leave for Canada! We have had so many different memories like the time we had small groups at your house and the time that you and Noelles came over to Kristens house that was really sad! Oh well! I have had so much fun this year! I hope that we have a couple of classes together next year. Have the best summer and you better write to me this summer!

The La Canada Boys Cross Country Team won the Rio Hondo League title for the third straight year and the seventeenth time in the last twenty-two years, under the leadership of coach Pat Logan. The varsity had many challenging teams to compete with including many natural hinderences such as gopher holes and rattle snakes. But through it all, they were still able to be on top. The varsity team will have four returning varsity runners next year, plus a group of League Champions at the JV level.

The L.C. Girls Cross Country Team fielded a full team for the first time in four years and they made the best of it. They finished second in league to Monrovia and finished the season as the twelfth best team in C.I.F., with a fine record of 6-1. The girls varsity team also faced the same hinderences as the guys and proved they could keep up. The girls will have all but one of their varsity runners return to compete for next year, so they have a good chance to win league and possibly even win C.I.F.

Ben attempts his highly acclaimed golf shot in the outhouse trick.

Brian Peluso abandons his golf clubs.

Why, you ask, are there four pages on golf in the year book this year? After pondering this annoying interrogation, the author of this article, (that's me), came up with eight good reasons. 1. Golf is a spring sport. 2. Four is a common term used in golf. 3. For Socrates. 4. Golf is fun. 5. To give more attention to our country club sports. 6. For Ben. 7. To increase one's cultural awareness. 8. For peace, love and happiness.

La Canada golf this year looks very promising. Despite a rather disappointing start, the team still looks optimistically towards the winning of league and C.I.F. The team is led by senior captain Ben Findel, seniors Mark Falkenhagen and Matt Biggar and juniors Brian Peluso, Tom Standish and Gavin Craig. A lot of leaders you might say. Yes, and Coach Fred Jardine is the man behind the scenes. For now, it's on to bigger and better things - for these bright young golfers. Our hats are off to them.

Mark relaxes with a long club in the cart.

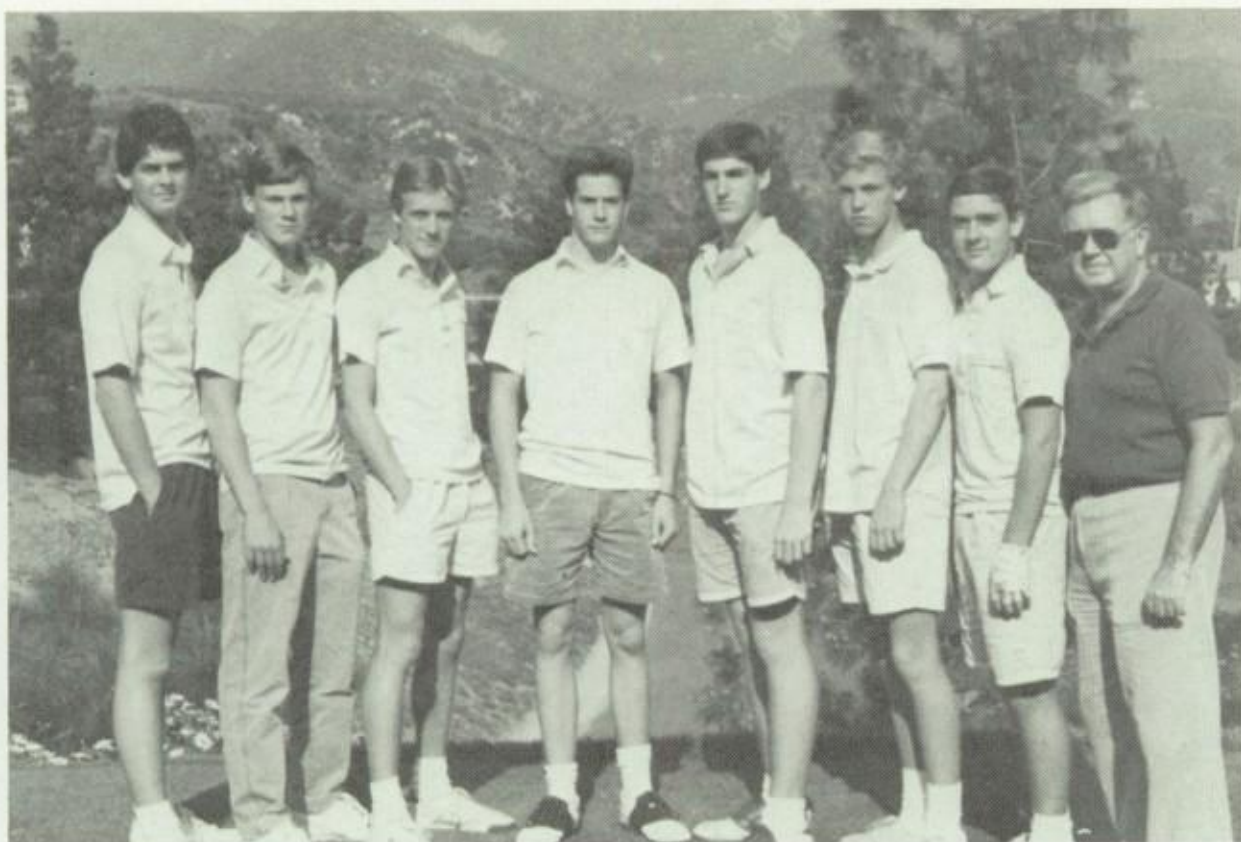

Matt deals with the frustrations of golf, the only way he knows how.

A mark of greatness

The L.C.H.S. Girls Tennis Team ended another season with a "smash". Led by captains Vicki Boas and Monica Fat, the 11-person team found its way into the second round of C.I.F. Losing only to San Marino in league, the netters finalized the season with an 8-2 record. The girls completed the entire tennis season with a tough loss against Hart. For the seniors, it was a great last season, but for the returning players plus coach Veronica Pasley, improvement will be hard to conquer.

wrestling

In the eyes of those outside of the La Canada High School Wrestling Team, the 87-88 season may seem like a failure. They may judge the season by the less than impressive overall team record, which was due to the amount of athletes that were either kicked off the team or decided to quit. This lack of personnel accounted for the many weight classes that were forced to forfeit at the Varsity level. To outsiders these negative aspects may lead them to believe nothing positive was accomplished during the season, but those on the team who stuck it out till the end, showing the dedication, devotion, and desire, should certainly feel a great sense of accomplishment. New head coach Keith Cutler (an established and successful coach) and assistant coach Scott Beakes (a former graduate and wrestler of La Canada High) have started what hopes to develop into a promising program. With their guidance, La Canada Wrestling will soon be where it belongs, on top.

It's a sport unlike all others,
It can't be compared to anything,
It tells a man about himself,
And it's called wrestling.

It's a sport which reveals,
All a man has inside,
Whether or not he can suck it up,
And show that he has pride.

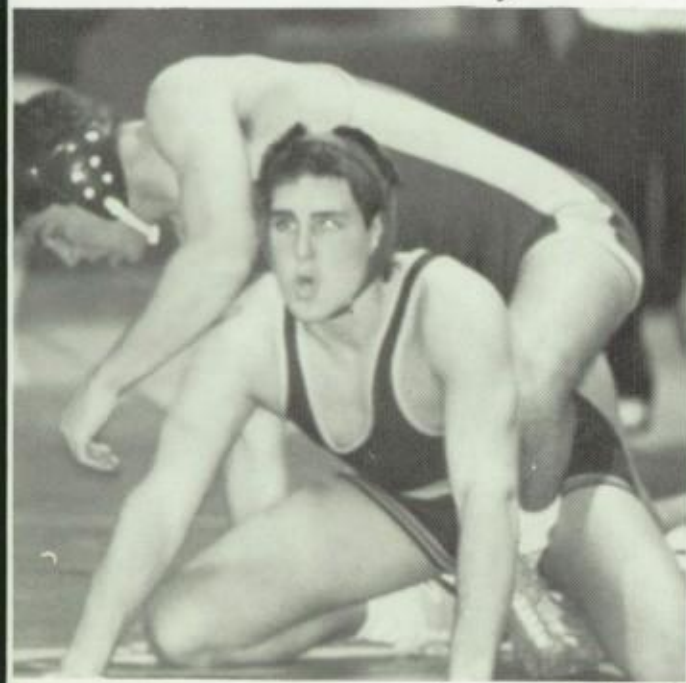

It's not whether you win or lose,
It's how hard you went,
Losing doesn't hurt as bad,
If you gave 100 percent.

When you're lying on your back,
And the easiest thing to do is quit, That's when you must reach within yourself,
And give that extra bit.

You can't let your mind,
Tell your heart what it wants to do,
Because the time you let this happen,
Is the second when you're through.

Wrestling builds in you,
A sense of mental discipline,
And if you use this outside the sport,
Then in life you're going to win!

Tennis is indigenous. That rhymes. And speaking of rhyme, I'm reminded of harmony. And this year's Varsity Boy's Tennis Team was harmonious as heck! Led by the 3 year varsity member and captain Jeremey Milbrodt, this year's team swang, swung, and hung together. Yes, they were indeed a family. Their team worked together like P.B. and J., pen and ink, ball and racket, LBJ and JFK. And with the onslaught of freshman boy wonder Brandt Lincoln and his fervor for balls going over the net, our tennis team went higher and better and further than anything in the world and I mean that.

Christ -
well like - the year is finally over, if you can believe it. I can't believe it's really over.
Yeah, and you will, at least you won't a sorry that I didn't have a chance to get to know you better. You are a very sweet caring and genuine person. Just in your way because God loves you. Don't take life so seriously.

Be yourself because that's who I like.
You keep in touch with me. I'll give you my

Love ya,

Still

The Same

To be perfectly honest with you, this baseball copy is due before three league games have been played. So in other words, I am now going to guess how the team did in the following paragraph.

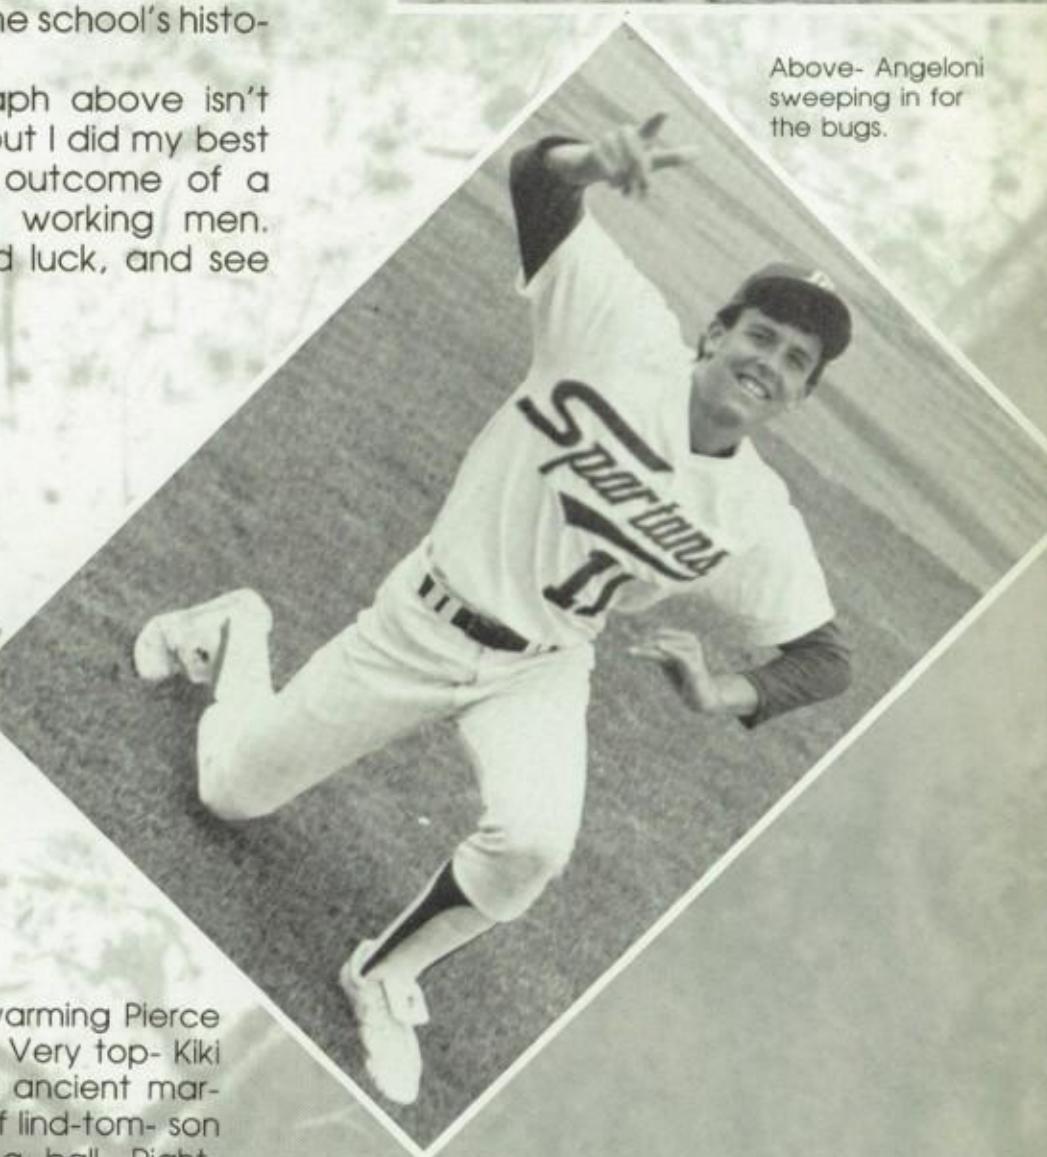

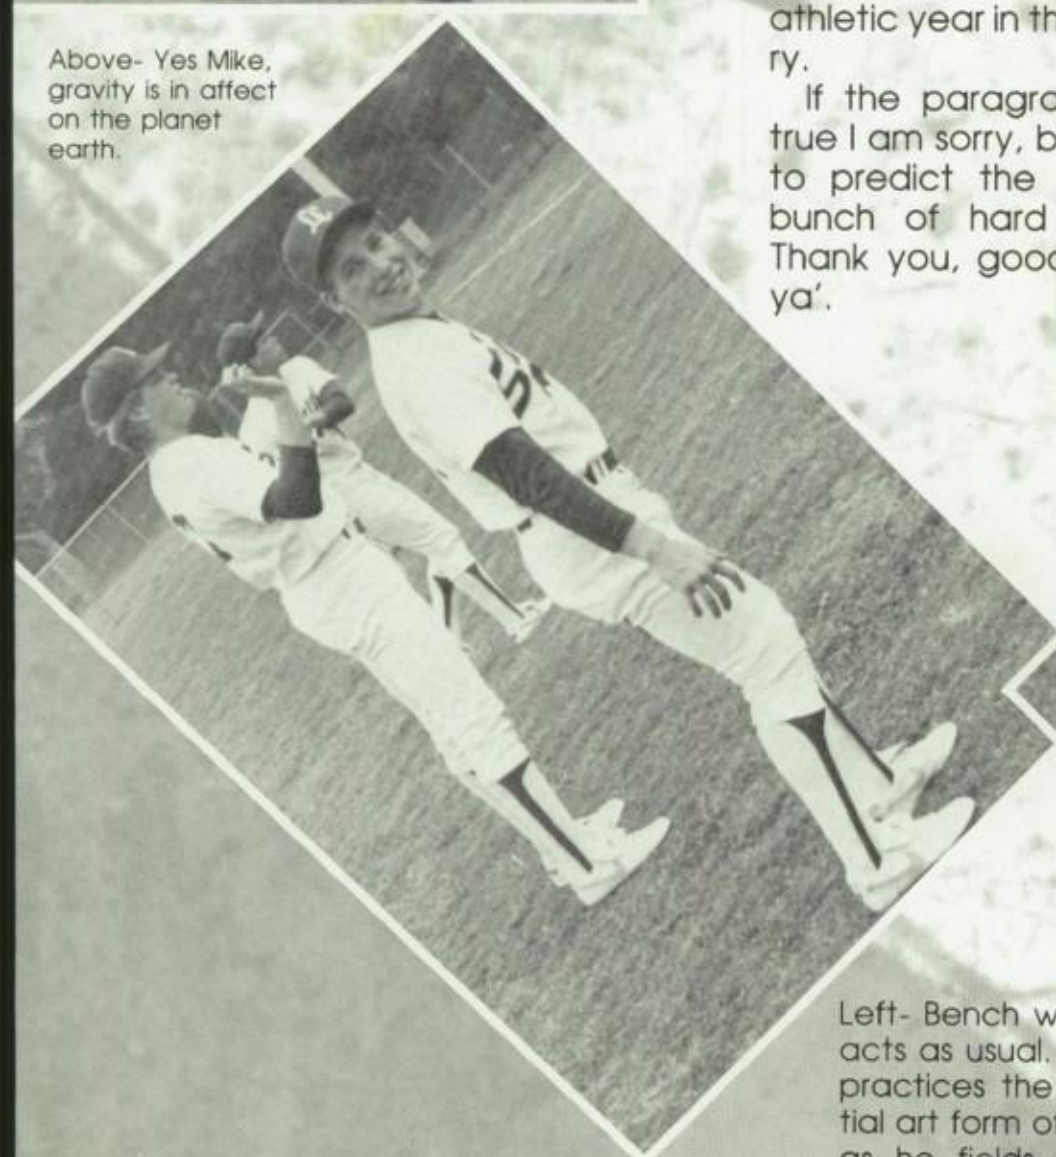

The 1988 baseball team finished its' league season in first place. A team that was previously frowned upon by the press and the fans, turned around and made a mockery of those pre-season ideas. This team pulled together as a unit and worked hard in achieving their championship goals. It is now a fact, the 87-88 school year was the most successful athletic year in the school's history.

If the paragraph above isn't true I am sorry, but I did my best to predict the outcome of a bunch of hard working men. Thank you, good luck, and see ya'.

The Girls Softball Team is off to a new start with a new coach and many new players (only 5 returnees). This new start is a positive one though, as the girls expect to take league.

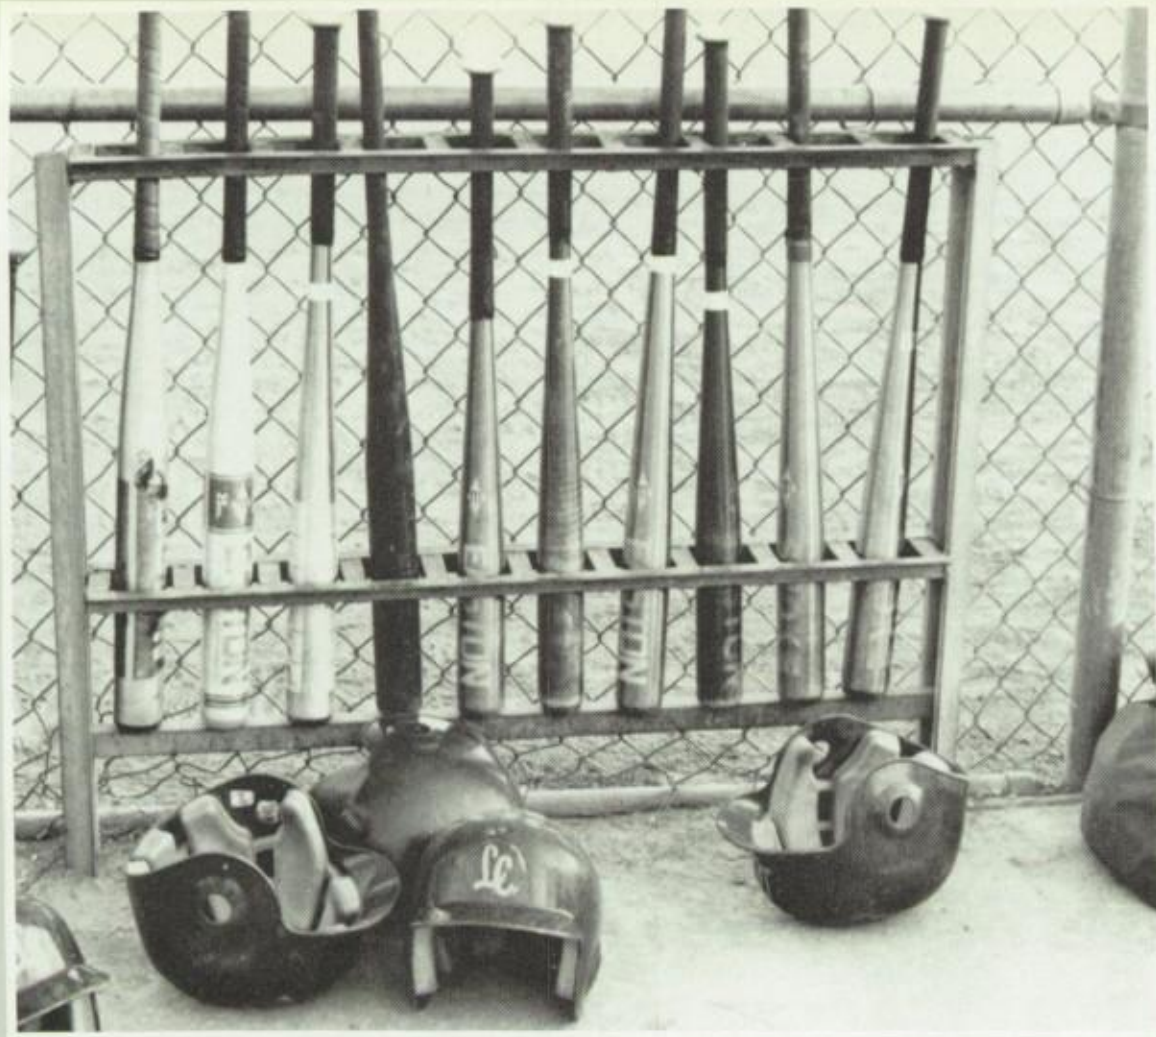

Above left: Catcher Lori Vine practices batting (she's a freshman) Above right: The pitcher also hits a homerun. Below left: Get down, Christy Below Right: The team meeting discussing how much to beat the team by.

Coach Leslie Rover has taught the Varsity team all that she knows; and considering she's an ex-UCLA player, that's a lot. The team does display the knowledge of the coach in their performances. The league opponents, along with CIF, will be surprised at the young team's action. And I do mean YOUNG; 2 freshmen, 3 sophomores, 5 juniors, and 5 seniors. Age won't matter though to this team!

L.C. Boy's Soccer Wins League Championship

The 1987-88 edition of the La Canada Boy's Varsity Soccer team has succeeded in becoming the first team at La Canada to be sole possessors of the Rio Hondo League championship. At the beginning of the year, the team came into their season unranked. However, as they entered League play, they progressed to the top 10. L.C. clinched their league title with a thrilling 2-1 victory over Temple City. La Canada then entered CIF play with a tough fought victory over Hesperia. After their first round win, they then had to travel to play top ranked Saddleback.

The team was led by defensive players Kevin Hansen, Mark Dancsecs, Sweeper, Jensen Jarraba, and All-World goalie, Cory Ryken. Offensively, the team was led by strong performers David Quesada, Brian Christensen, and Dan Hilbert.

This year's coaching staff has been the best ever to be involved in the La Canada Soccer Program. The staff included first year coach Lou Bilowitz, along with Afshein Goatbee, and goalie coach Randy, or more affectionately called "the bag lady," don't even ask me why. With only one starting senior (All-Universe performer, Cory Ryken) on this year's team, next season's team can be a strong contender to win the CIF 2A Division championship.

The Varsity squad: Tim Wood, Matt Billiti, Mark Dancsecs, Alex Cunningham, Ross Allan, Kevin Hansen, Gavin Mealiffe, Brian Christensen, Dan Hilbert, David Quesada, Coach Lou Bilowitz, Coach Goatbee. The La Canada High School Equestrian Team, founded in 1986 by Lynne Ferber and her mom, has come a long way in a short span of time. Starting a trend by being the first public high school to compete in the Interscholastic Equestrian League, the team has grown in numbers as well as in league status.

This year, due to the assistance of the LCHS team, there are three other public schools participating in the competitions.

The Interscholastic Equestrian League competitions are held at the Los Angeles Equestrian Center at Griffith Park and are just like other horse shows, except that individual points received for ribbons are also accumulated into a total team score.

An undefeated freshman team has brought back three first place trophies so far this year and leads the league in the freshman division. The Junior Varsity team as one first place trophy so far this year. The team is in second place overall in the league. And they aren't finished yet with the season — there is one competition left on April 17.

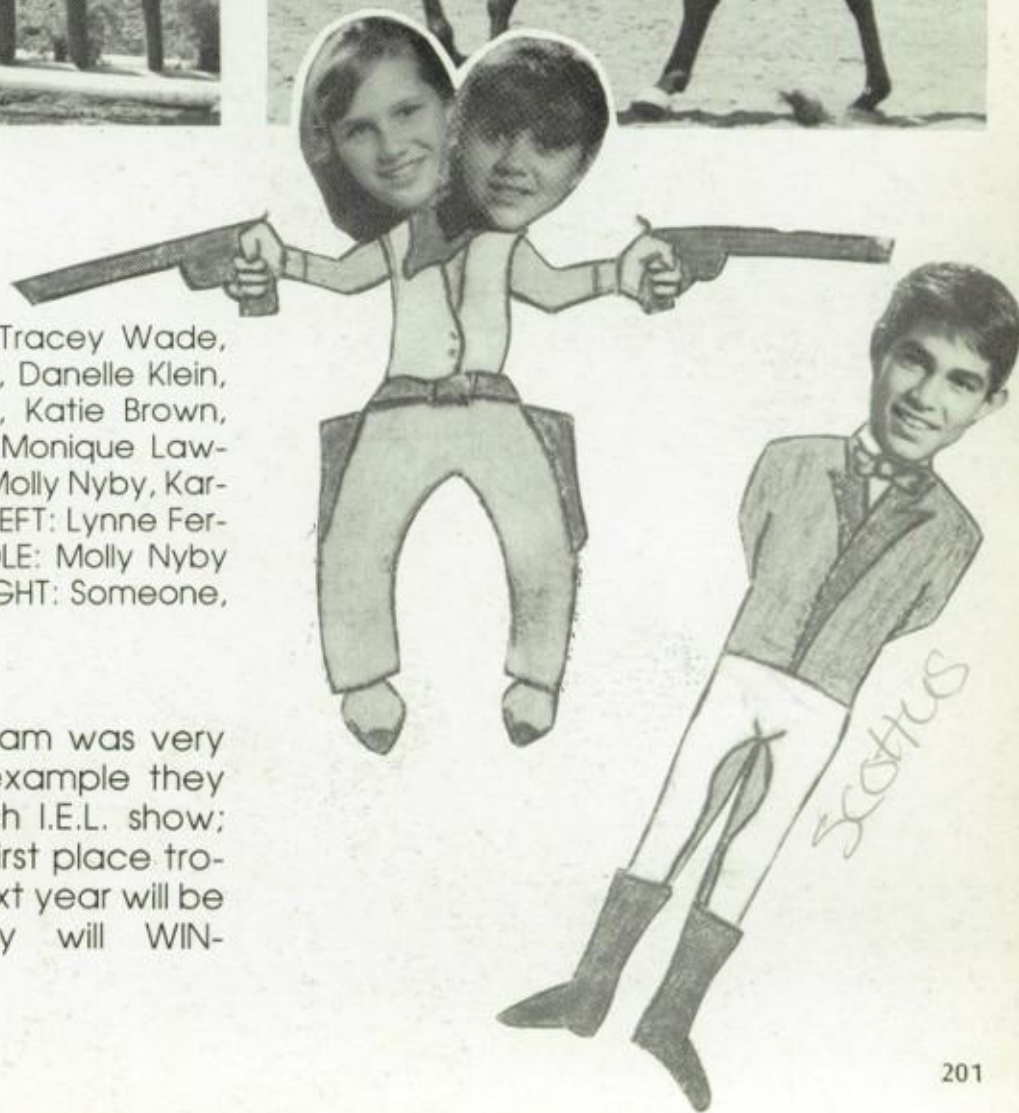

Finished second in a field of 26 schools which present extremely tough competition isn't a bad record for a team only in its second season of competition. A maximum of six riders each are allowed in the freshman, junior varsity and varsity divisions. LCHS has one of the largest teams in competition. Teams compete in hunters, jumpers, equitation and obedience events.

Riding on the Varsity team are Monique Lawrence, Molly Nyby and Tracey Wade. Junior Varsity competitors are Team Captain, Lynne Ferber, Louise Brown, Rory Caswell, Julie Goddard, Charmaine Montury and Susan Wells. Equestrians in the undefeated freshman division are Katie Brown, Danelle Klein, Karrie Tucker, Laura Walter, Aubrie Watson, Sandy Weiss and Stacey Wickman. Team officers are Captain Lynne Ferber, Co-captain Charmaine Montury and Treasurer Susan Wells. Eileen Ferber is the coach.

They come from the deepest regions of the U.S., proud to serve behind a desk in a Distinguished School. They've seen it all, they've done it all. They can work wonders with a very small piece of chalk. They are the LC faculty. Attracted by the fertile soil and mild climate of California, each has brought with him a certain something that no one else has. The coalescing of these diverse cultures has brought a special gleam, a certain sparkle, a terrific brightness to the union of instructors known as the faculty. Renowned for their incredible versatility in educational techniques, some of our professors prefer to lecture while juggling fire. But the gap between students and faculty has created many mysteries and unfounded rumors. Specifically, what really goes on in that teachers' lounge? The most important thing to remember is that they are human just like the rest of us.

Orchestra And String Quartet

During the course of the year, the La Canada Marching Band was outstanding and received many first place awards in the parades they attended. The Tall Flags and Sabres were awarded first place in every parade. Our drum major Andy Wells won two place trophies for great showmanship. In the month of March the band encountered the Isles of Ireland. They all had a great time marching in the Saint Patrick Day Parade. The upper picture on the left is the Concert Band. Front row, left to right: Mark Clinton, Jean Pantages, Rachel Lambert, Michelle Wynton, Chad Givens, Eric Buehler, Corrie Potter, and Susan Wells. Right: Kristin Kearl, Michelle Curnow, Catherine Brown, Alisa Ellis, Melissa Kent, Mercedes Bernardin, Stacey Wickman, Lorelee Waltermire, Shalini Srivastava, Angie Reed, Irene Theodoropoulos, Shana Kennedy, Lisa Davis, Mary Ballweber, Danelle Klein, Michelle Frame, Candace Matsuura, Jennifer Riney, Susanne Spear, Elizabeth Ricks, Jean Taylor, Kathy VanLerberg, Amanda Forsdick, Mr. Kelsey, Laura Gelhaar.

The Spartan Singers are an enthusiastic group of ninth and tenth graders who perform various kinds of choral music. They participate in several programs during the year. This year they were involved in the annual holiday program in December, the traditional Fine Arts Week musical concert, a Southern California Vocal Association festival at Montebello High School in May, and the annual Spring Choral Concert in June.

Concert Choir

Avo Farnsworth, Erin Weaver, Holly Lhamon, Jenny Rogers, Craig Prentice (not a Madrigal), Andy Brooks, Daniel Thiesmeyer, Carl Piowaty, Jennie Akers, Valerie Haselton, Rachel Lambert, Amanda Facer.

This was a special year for the LCHS Concert Choir. In April, they, together with the Madrigal Singers, participated in a prestigious music festival in Toronto, Canada. In addition to performing several times, members of the Concert Choir toured the greater Toronto area, and also visited spectacular Niagara Falls. Earlier in the year they performed in Los Angeles and La Canada. Their music was also heard in the holiday program in December, at Loyola-Marymount Festal, in May, and the Spring Choral Concert in June.

This select choral ensemble of twenty voices, performed many times this year, and always represented LCHS in the finest style. They sang for several local community groups during December. They participated in the holiday program at the La Canada Presbyterian Church, and contributed their voices to the Fine Arts Week Concert in February. The Madrigals also performed in the Loyola-Marymount Festival, and in the Toronto Music Festival in April. The highlight of their year was, as always, the annual Spring Tour of central and northern California. This year the Madrigals had fun representing LCHS all over California. Above right: Altos, Mea Aparicio, Teri Saul, Kristin Overall, Heather Bender, Aileen Braun, Jean Mathews. Right: Tenors, Cory Ryken, Jim Colburn, Joe Oberlander, Vince Fazzi. Craig Prentice is not shown because he is not a Madrigal.

Drama

Left: As time goes on, it seems Debbie McMahon strongly disagrees with Craig Gagliardi's opinion (which happens a lot in a class such as Drama). Below: It seems that Craig has changed his opinion to that of Debbie's, and Debbie appears rather happy about that. Lower left: It looks like Allison Ordeshook is really playing out her part and giving someone the back of her hand.

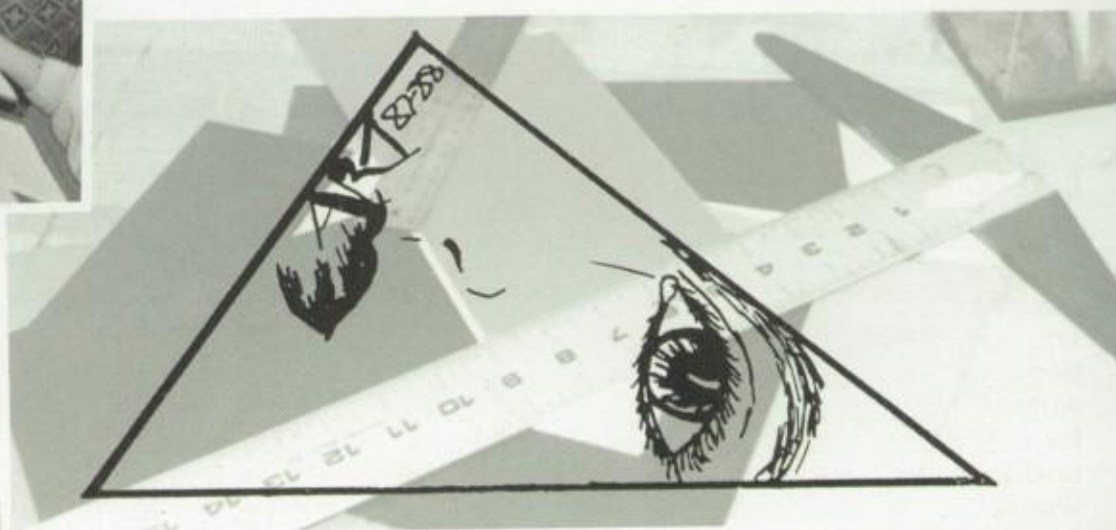

Drama is a class in which a student at La Canada High can express their own ideas through actions not only words. This is the class where the young actors and actresses start off. Miss Marsteller does a great job every year in preparing students interested in drama for the work ahead if they choose to seek a career in acting. This is a class all who are involved enjoy. These students in drama not only enjoy and share their talent with each other but every year the rest of the community gets to enjoy their plays and other annual productions.

Art

Above: Tony Wasson, one of Art's talented seniors, is working on one of his masterpieces. Left: Lindy Thompson works to complete her piece for the annual Fine Arts Week showing of all the art classes.

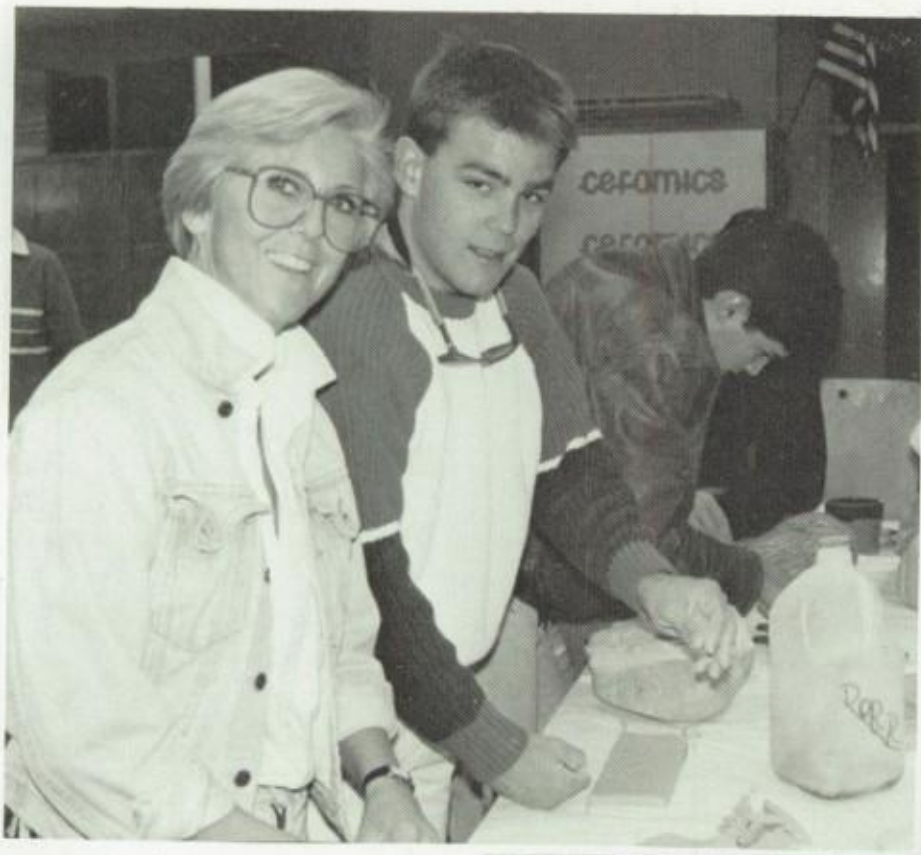

LCHS has three art classes for every type of artist. Basic Art is a class where students learn the basic structure of art and are introduced to various media. Advanced Art I is the next art class to take. Taught by Mrs. Mealiffe, these young artists learn more concepts and different media. Finally third and fourth year students take Advanced Art II. This class is filled with the art experts of LCHS. In this class each person makes up their own projects and uses their choice of media. These classes are fun and a definite learning experience. Julie Allen is an artist also.

Ceramics

Ceramics is a class where one can express individualism in clay. Above, Randy Dorr is getting some tips from "The Clay-bum". At the upper right, Steve Auten (Superwolf) meditates for concentration on his piece and Darrin Bradfield works towards true perfection. Right: Kevin Frohn and Tish McManigill work to finish their projects. Erik Dancsecs is beginning his career in ceramics as Jason Witt carves a masterpiece. To the left of Jason we see Monica Fat making a mug. Clark Ward also makes mugs.

Dear Christel,
Hey baby! It's really too bad that we haven't ever gotten together this year.
I wish we had because you're so nice and pretty and fun to be with.
Maybe during the summer we can get together. I would really like to. I'll have a great summer and I'll see you see you! Love you

CLUBS

Speech & Debate

Twas a cold, cold world before Mr. Jim McDonnell was introduced to the campus of La Canada High School. His intense sense of humor and high level of intelligence established something that has changed each of our lives a great deal. This was the establishment of an excellent speech and debate team. The techniques and tactics taught by Mac helped the students to become effective as debaters not only at tournaments but in everyday life as well. In fact, Joe Hunt and Barry Minkow, under the instruction of Mr. Mac, became so persuasive that they persuaded hundreds of investors to give them millions of dollars respectively.

This is rather off the subject, as these are just a couple bad apples in an orchard of millions. For the speech and debate team has been successful under the instruction of Mr. MacDonnell year after year after year. Without this true genius, life just wouldn't be so wonderful. He has been the man behind the speech and debate team for years and has changed many a student's life. So next time you hear "Hey, you took my larvae!" "No I didn't!" "Oh, my mistake, I guess you didn't . . ." or any other vicious argument, you must realize that it was probably someone on the speech and debate team working overtime. The Omega Staff wishes these fine individuals the best of luck as they move into the national tournaments . . .

ACADEMIC decaathlon

And here it began: thirty students eager to learn and ready for the heat of competition. After sending subliminal messages of warning, Mac, the fearless body of knowledge, began hurtling tests one by one at these helpless students. Following ten days of strenuous performances, it was time to pick the best from the best. Using an academic application to the concept of Darwinism, nine students emerged from the battlefield. The top trio of brainpower were Rain Bachand, Adrian Ong, and Richard Wong, who was selected mainly for his deep masculine voice. In the middle division were Lauren Knudsen, Brad Galton, and Howard Kim. Last but not least came Ed Wellman, Aram Compeau, and Tim Wood. The fabulous nine finished ninth out of sixty-seven in the big competition. Our heart and respect go out to all the academic decatheletes. This year's decatheletes are Tammy Ketabgian, Adrian Ong, Brad Galton, Reebea Daine, Gary Hagmueller, Lauren Knudson, Matt Biggar, Jenny Cannon, Geneva Gmelich, Richard Wang, Isabel Koh, Joanne Choi, Caroline Boudreau, Rob Rosenthal, Howard Kim, Aram Compeau, Stuart Jones, Ed Wellman, David Kim, James Hastings, Rick Patterson, Kevin Heinz, Tim Wood, and Harry Riehms.

The Keywanettes is a girl's service club sponsored by the La Canada Kiwanis Club. Keywanettes is a national organization offering girls an opportunity to grow in leadership, fellowship, and service to the community. They assist at Oak Grove, serve refreshments at Kiwanis Travelogues, work with a local convalescent hospital, and various other projects. Anna Battoe served as Lt. Governor of the district organization. Officers of the 87/88 Keywanettes were: President; Anna Battoe, Vice President; Tammy Ketabjian, Treasurer; Jennie Kim, Secretary; Danelle Morgan, Historian; Isabelle Koh. Advisor: Mrs. M. Langedyke

Key Club

The Key Club is a young mans service club. Members include Jeff Larsen, Eric Ujfalusy, Matt Tanaka, Mike Halpern, Scott Forbes, Brian White, Robert Penland, Joseph Kim, Magdy El Shammaa, and Jay Lee. The advisor is Bob Huson

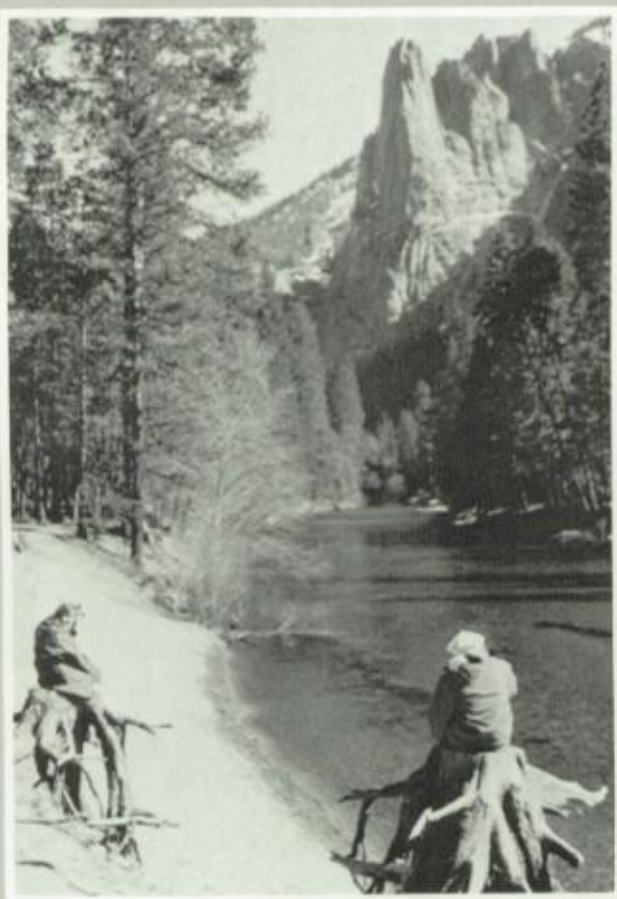

The Mock Trial Team follows all court procedures like a real trial. They study a case and play the part of witnesses and lawyers both of the defense and prosecution. They went to the LA Court House to compete with a terrific showing for their first time. Members are: Howard Kim, Ted Lai, Richard Suh, Magdy El Shamma'a, Oscar Hsu, Kristen Overall, Karen Imbrialle, Lauren Knudsen, Rain Bachand.

Yosemite Institute

MOCK TRIAL TEAM

This year's Yosemite Institute trip was a great learning experience for the following students who are pictured here with Mr. Fred Hansen. The happy campers are: Magdy El Shammaa, Aram Compeau, Mariel Spengler, Walt Meyers, Megan Klune, Donna Johnson, Karen Imbrialle, Cissy Holmes, Murat Dogus, Lisa Stenstrom, Carston Tonn, and Itaru Kamiya.

Pax Omnibus ("peace for all") is a newly-formed political consciousness club. Members are concerned with a variety of issues, from civil liberties and environmental concerns to world issues and peace. Part of the club's goal is to inform L.C.H.S. through newsletters, speakers, and other activities.

ALLIANCE CLUB

The President of the Alliance Club is Ted Lai. Vice Pres. is Joshua Goldstein. Sec. is Cindy Tisdale. Treasurer is Richard Suh.

Young Businessmen's Club

TWO MEN WITH A DREAM . . .

Thirteen years before the turn of the century, two men had a dream of a club superior to the entire network of clubs. They soon created a system of twenty-two powerful minds competing among each other, yet working together to take on the world. Nothing has stopped them yet, and many doubt anything ever will. "They've created a monster!" said one quotable and respected man. One of the two men that leads this organization was interrogated about the exclusion of females from this club. He quickly replied with wit and confidence, "Simply no girls had signed up before memberships closed . . . it is all for the better." For now, the world continues to unfold to the overpowering machine of young businessmen.

Advanced 2AB

GRAPHIC ARTS

This year's advance Graphic Arts class was filled with many interesting field trips with amazing tour guides, long, hot relaxing days in the sun, and plenty of joking around. Jokes? No way . . . Come! Look at the blanket! Oh wait, we also printed stuff.

The 2AB'ers are Kyle "Squish" Ray, Jason Witt, Eric "Car Trouble" O'Brien, Sir Al "Come" Berke, Josh "Long gone" Blackwell, John Post, Bill "Bill-cut" Phillips, Kevin Frohn, Brian "Byron Fisher" French, Kevin Franks, Matt "Me" Tanaka, Sean "Zeek" Hawkins, John "Red" Wilson, Josh Moyer, Anupa "Nuples" Srinivasen, and Stacey De Lima.

Our school boasts one of the largest chapters of the National Honor Society in the country. The National Honor Society is an organization sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals. Only the nations' elite students in the areas of scholarship, leadership, service, and character are selected by school faculty each year. The traditional initiation ceremony took place this year on November 19. New members recited the National Honor Society pledge and received membership cards. Seniors in the NHS are eligible for local and national scholarships. At graduation, senior members receive pins and white honor chords. The Spartan Chapter staged many service and school projects throughout the year. The La Canada High NHS group is headed by Mr. Harvey.

National Honor Society

The La Canada High School California Scholarship Federation has completed a very successful year. This year's officers were Adrain Ong, President; Richard Suh, Vice President; Christina Avalone, Secretary; and Ted Lai, Treasurer. Students must apply for membership upon the completion of each semester. A total of ten points must be earned with seven accruing in the academic subjects. An "A" is worth 3 points, a "B" in an honors class is worth 2 points, and a "B" in a regular class is worth one point. A "U" in citizenship disqualifies a student. A few exceptional students graduate with a Gold Seal. Starting with the sophomore year, students must qualify for CSF four out of six semesters, with one of the semesters in the senior year. Gold Seal students were honoured at the annual CSF Banquet held on June 20 at Brookside Country Club. The CSF staged a canned food drive in November, continued the annual student tutoring program, went to Disneyland in March, honored the faculty with a continental breakfast, saw seniors earn chapter and college scholarships, and held a pancake breakfast to raise money. Mr. Harvey served his ninth year as a wonderful and supporting advisor.

Card game? Structure spanning and providing passage over a waterway, railroad, or other obstacle? No. It's La Canada High Schools' Peer Counseling class. Mr. Doug Coe, world renowned counselor and chief diplomat of the class, has taught the young Freudians skills needed to be known by all successful counselors. Members of the class must first take a basic class in peer counseling and then apply to go on to the much more involved and demanding class called "Bridge". In the class they then talk with students, nonstudents, teachers, the elderly, or anyone with vocal chords. A class spokesman said the class is not all fun and games and at times it can be much more taxing than pelting a queen with rocks and garbage. With that I leave you. Keep up the good work, Bridge! Members of Bridge Club include: Randy Dorr, Doug Leipold, Bob Sullivan, Renee Parady, Monique Lawrence, John Pitts, Larry Welk, Thomas Foster, Brette Simon, Michaela Kim, Lynn Ferber, Hillary Hathaway, Doug Coe, and Gabie Adams.

liad. That concrete mass of knowledge and typing skills located in Mrs. Hope Miller's room. Walking near it gives you a sense of euphoria and little lights you didn't even know existed in your mind began to flash. The intelligence makes you feel drained, as though you had radiation treatment at Verdugo Hills. Ahh ... but that newspaper ... the main informant of our high school, those pages filled with Views, Entertainment, Sports, and even the Twilight Zone! Oh, but what would life at L.C. be like without it? How would the views of our enormous mob of students be heard and shared? Without the help of Mrs. Miller, it would have never been possible. And the editor, Rain Bachand was ... maaarvelousss. So now, go read your paper. Members on the Iliad Staff include Derek Simpson, Christina Avallone, David Der Sarkissian, Billy Koury, Steve Chahine, Oscar Hsu, Ted Lai, Darren Jacks, Rain Bachand, Jeff Broberg, Tammy Ketabjian, Vaishali Tendulkar, Rob Bryant, Tom Hawkins and Lisa Stenstrom.

AFS.

This year's exchange students represented all corners of the world. Sabine Sellnau, from West Germany, was hosted by the Wreblic family. She likes art and studied with Mrs. Mealiffe. Debra Mueller is also from West Germany, but left America early.

Murat Dogus, from Istanbul, Turkey, is an AFS student. Having stayed with the Cannon family (of winter-dance queen Jenny fame), Murat enjoyed the La Canada nightlife and the cute blondes.

Murat's good friend, Olivier Von Hamme, is from Belgium. Like Murat, he likes California blondes, especially the cheerleader types.

And finally, we have Itaru Kamiya from Tokyo, Japan. Itaru enjoys fencing and spending time with his host family, the Smiths. (Joel, Itaru's host brother, is a senior also). What does all this show us? Two things; LC is a haven for foreign cultures, and exchange students like blondes.

International ... Club ...

Tina Jamison - Showers in a bathing suit.

Julie Johnson - moves out of her Garten because of her loud laugh.

Ian Kaiser - Likes to eat AVOCADOS.

Stu Jones - Uses shaving cream with his electric razor.

Karen Johnson - and Johnson. No more tears!

Eric Jacobsen - Definitely likes girls. Definitely.

Stephen Abbey - Acts like a jellyfish. Think like a jellyfish. Be a jellyfish.

Gabie Adams - Learns that she can relate to practically every John Hughes movie.

Julie Allen - Goes to college for so long that she forgets everything she ever learned.

Christina Avallone - Finally realizes at age sixty-four that maybe homework isn't so important.

Rain Bachand - Moves to Massachusetts and opens a white chocolate chip stand.

Jeanine Auten - Marries the King of Polyester after frequent visits to his office.

Lucia Cavallo - Schimille, Schimazzle, Hav and Felp Incorporated . . .

Robert Wollenweber - Awakens one morning to find that his nightmare of having a tiny female head grow out of his left side has come true. He calls it Judy II.

Matt Carden - Gets lost in his house and hair.

Laurie Bruce - Moves back and forth across the country so much that she lives in a plane's cockpit.

Melissa Coury - Begins to bathe in Diet Coke, she likes it so much.

Scott Cameron - Changes his name to "Aggy" and Loses That Loving Feeling.

Laura Cypert - Teaches English and French at the same time but can't speak it fluently.

Aram Compeau - Begins an "Art vs. Science" battle.

Jim Colburn - Marries Ffej and beats to a different drummer.

Jason Cole - Slaw eater.

Jeanne MacCalden - Has a pet extension cord because snakes are too dangerous.

Deborah Cotter - Marries Arnold and screams, "Ooh!Ooh!"

Dan Chrichton - Gets married at a real early age.

Tae Lee - Gets a wrong number phone call from Jeff Kucera and learns about a new system of measures.

Richard Lee - Has his own 976 number.

Kelly Kurtz - Becomes a fortune teller and looks into her Christal ball.

Brian McCollum - Opens his closet only to be sucked into a huge abyss in the wall and into a kingdom where he's worshipped as King Moose.

Kane McEwen - Can really relate to Eric Jacobsen.

Gabriella Maure - Gets an angry letter from Lou Rawls.

Jennifer Kobayashi - Becomes the first female president and consequently passes legislation allowing free trade through all roads and rivers.

Steve Kalb - If he had a hammer, he'd hammer in the morning, he'd hammer in the evening, . . .

Rob Rosenthal - Thinks he's Jamaican and tries to grow dreds on his legs.

Itaru Kamiya - Becomes the first jackSMITH in Japan.

Tammy Ketabgian - Goes to work for Lyndon Larouche.

Tae Kim - Is arrested for his laugh but gets a penny back in the mail.

Isabel Koh - Writes her memoirs but leaves out Adrian.

Megan Klune - Grows gills.

Doug Leipold - Finally plays soccer for high school by using shoe goo on his cleats.

Valerie Haselton - Inspires a Steve Winwood song. (Have you heard that before, Val?)

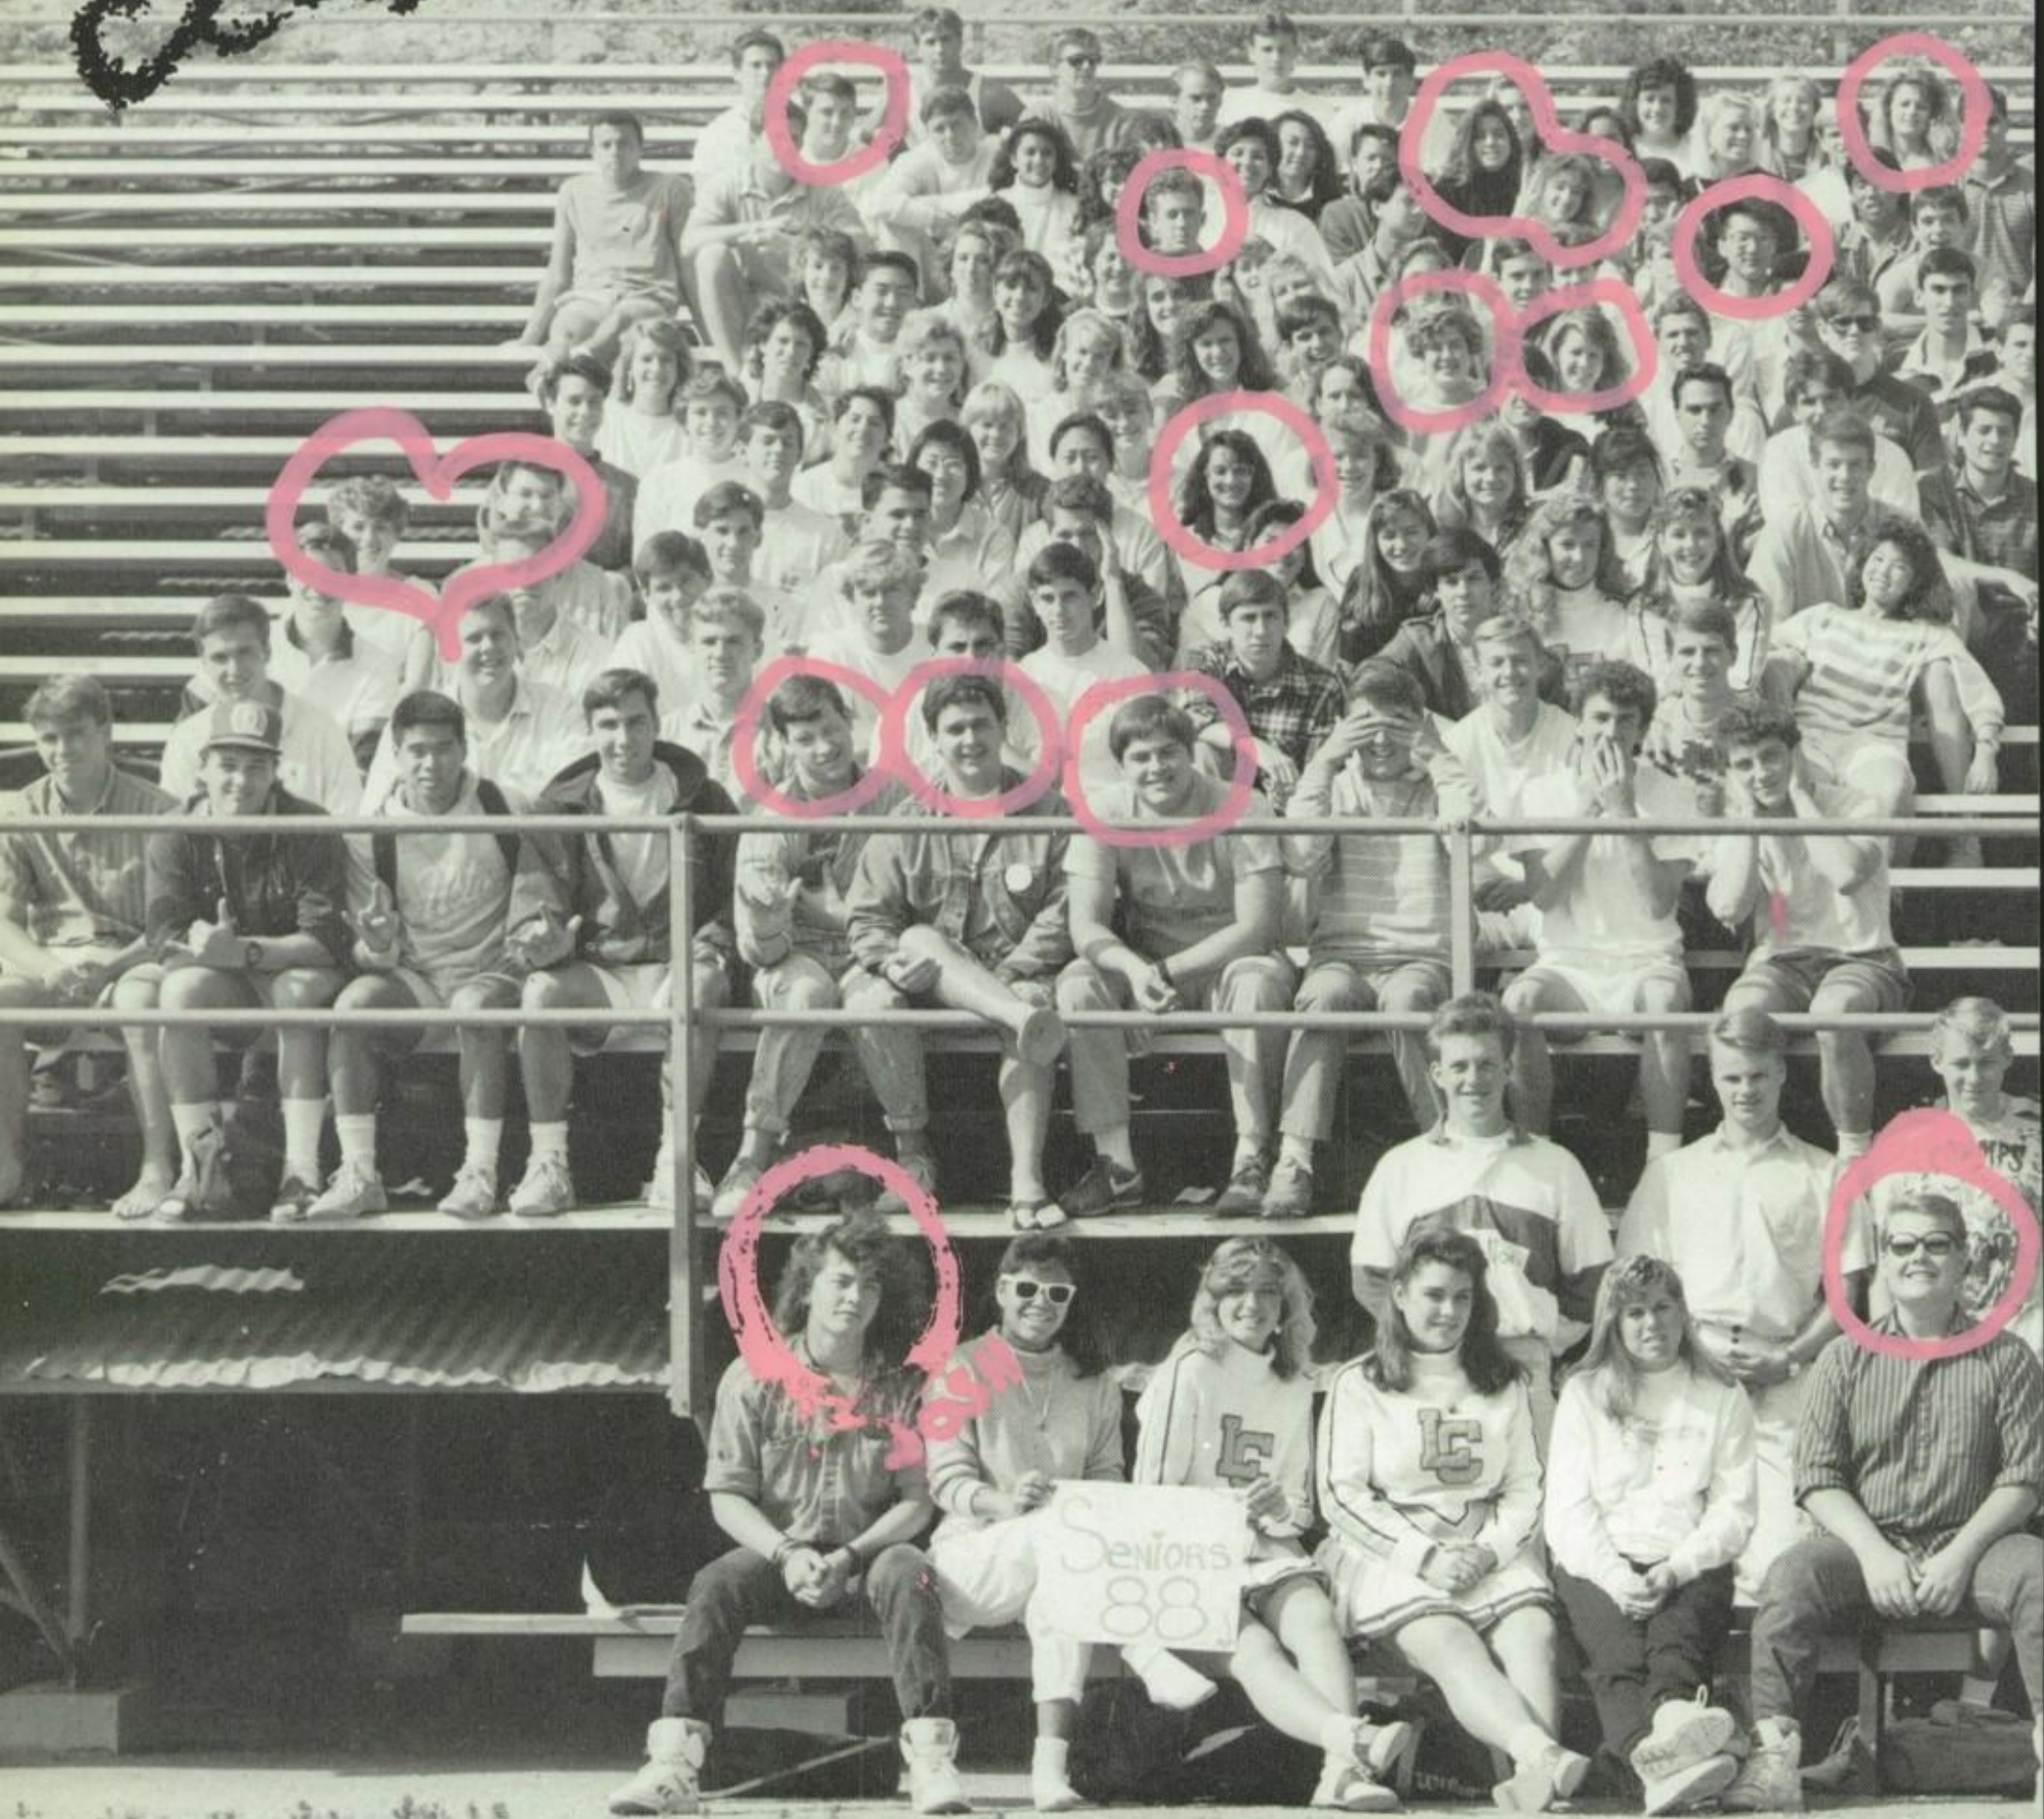

Kathryn Merrifield - Writes a book on how to properly eat stew.

Erin McGrath - Marries Pat Boone's grandson to get revenge.

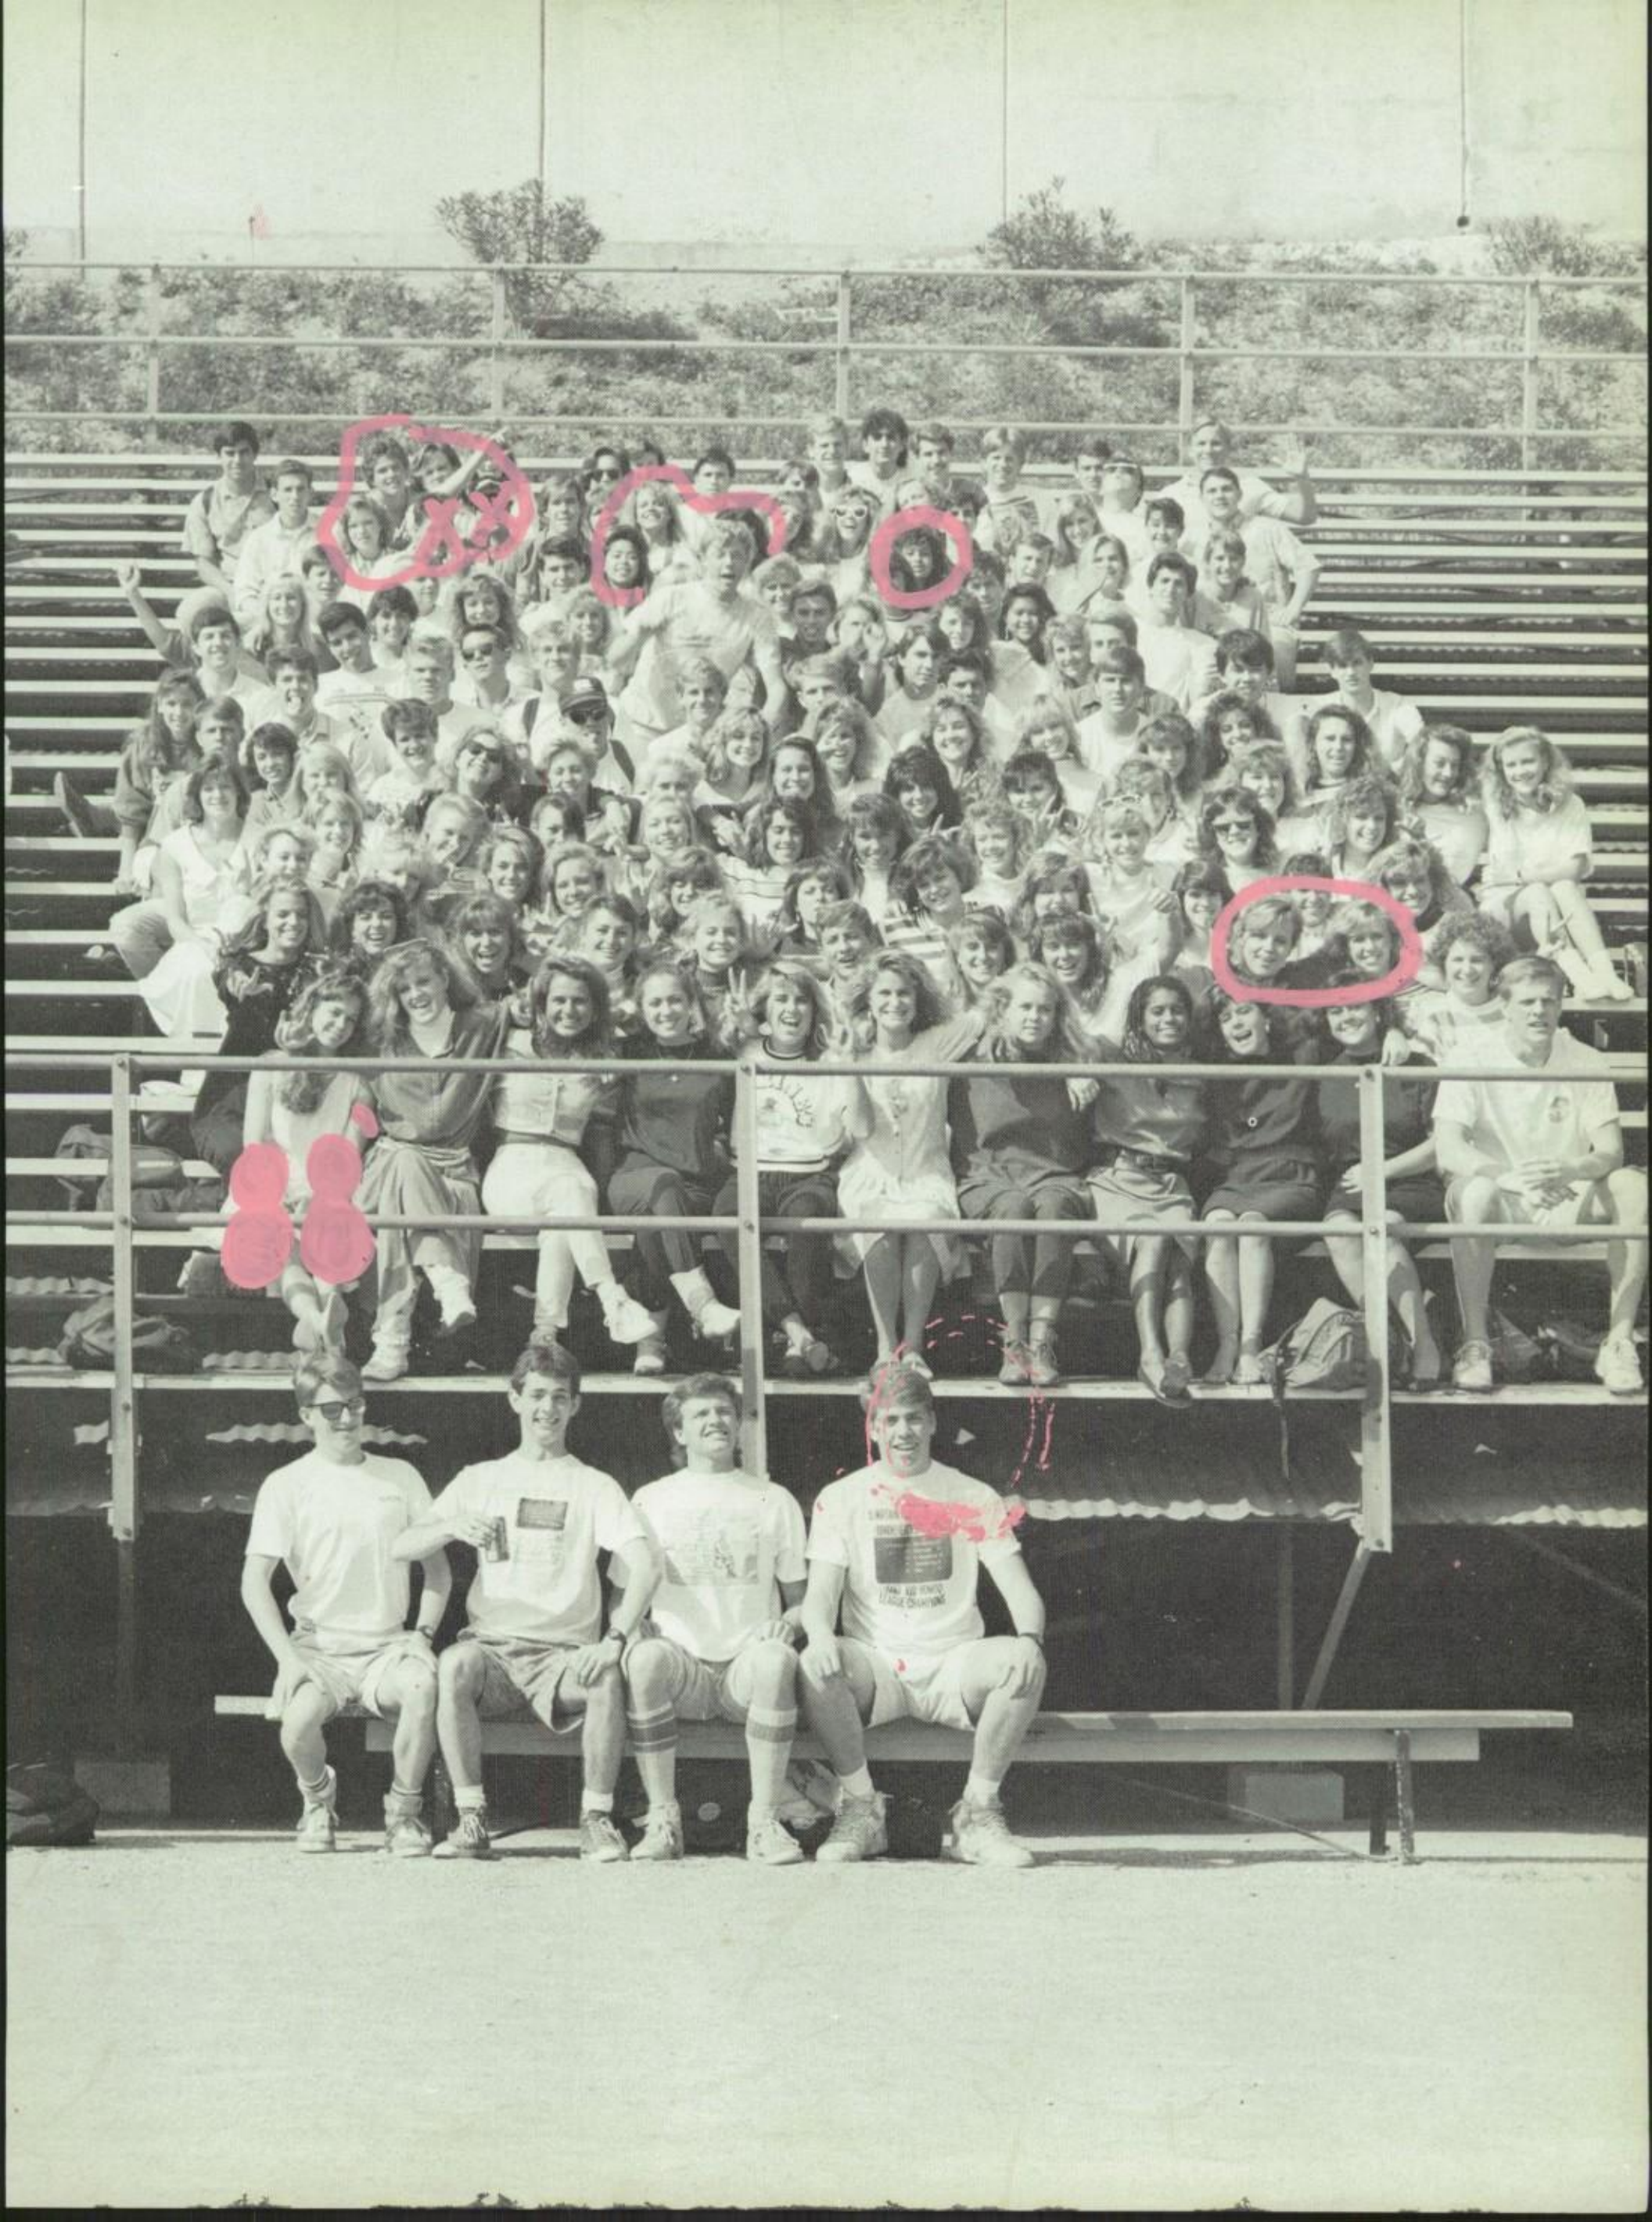

Josh Moyer - Becomes a model for Nagel.

Class of 88

Senior Salute . . .

Senora Granz

This woman deserves this Senior Salute for all the worthwhile time she has put in over her many years of teaching at La Canada. Her enthusiasm and love for language shows everyday in the classroom. For all that know her, they could see how dedicated she is in making her students learn, yet at the same time, be entertaining. Her high spirits and energy rub off on the students that enter her class and she is never seen without a smile. Seniors would like to recognize Mrs. Granz and let her know that her efforts have not gone unappreciated.

Farewell Dr. Ziehl

La Canada High School, as well as the La Canada Unified School District, is losing a tremendous resource this year. After twenty-three years of service to La Canada schools, District Superintendent Donald C. Ziehl is moving on.

Having fulfilled what he desired in both his personal and professional lives at this time, Dr. Ziehl feels no remorse at leaving and sees the future as bright for La Canada High School and the rest of the schools in the district.

Dr. Ziehl came to La Canada from Monterey because after he "met board members and citizens (he) realized that in this community there was the potential of having a truly outstanding school district," and that was where he was interested in being. He took the helm as the fourth superintendent the district had seen in four years, but something made him stay.

He has promoted a climate in La Canada where people can prosper and grow, and says that his job was made easier by the "types of parents who are very interested in their youngsters."

He continued by comparing the district to an orchestra, "there are a lot of parts, and each one is absolutely critical. The music can sound pretty crummy unless we get on the same page and work on the same notes on the same time."

Dr. Ziehl has been making music for twenty-three years, and does not plan to leave the field of education. Instead, he will work with the Pacific Institute as a representative to educational organizations around the country with staff development, an area in which he feels he can "have a very high impact."

Measuring his success in the smiles of the elementary school children and the accomplishments of the older kids, Dr. Ziehl is humbled by all the thank you's he has received from both the school and residential communities. However, he feels that he too owes some words of appreciation:

"Thank you to the students I've worked with, the teachers, the parents, the community. It's been a great opportunity for me to have a very fulfilling professional life."

Thank you, Dr. Ziehl.

Before we started ...

... when we were finishing.

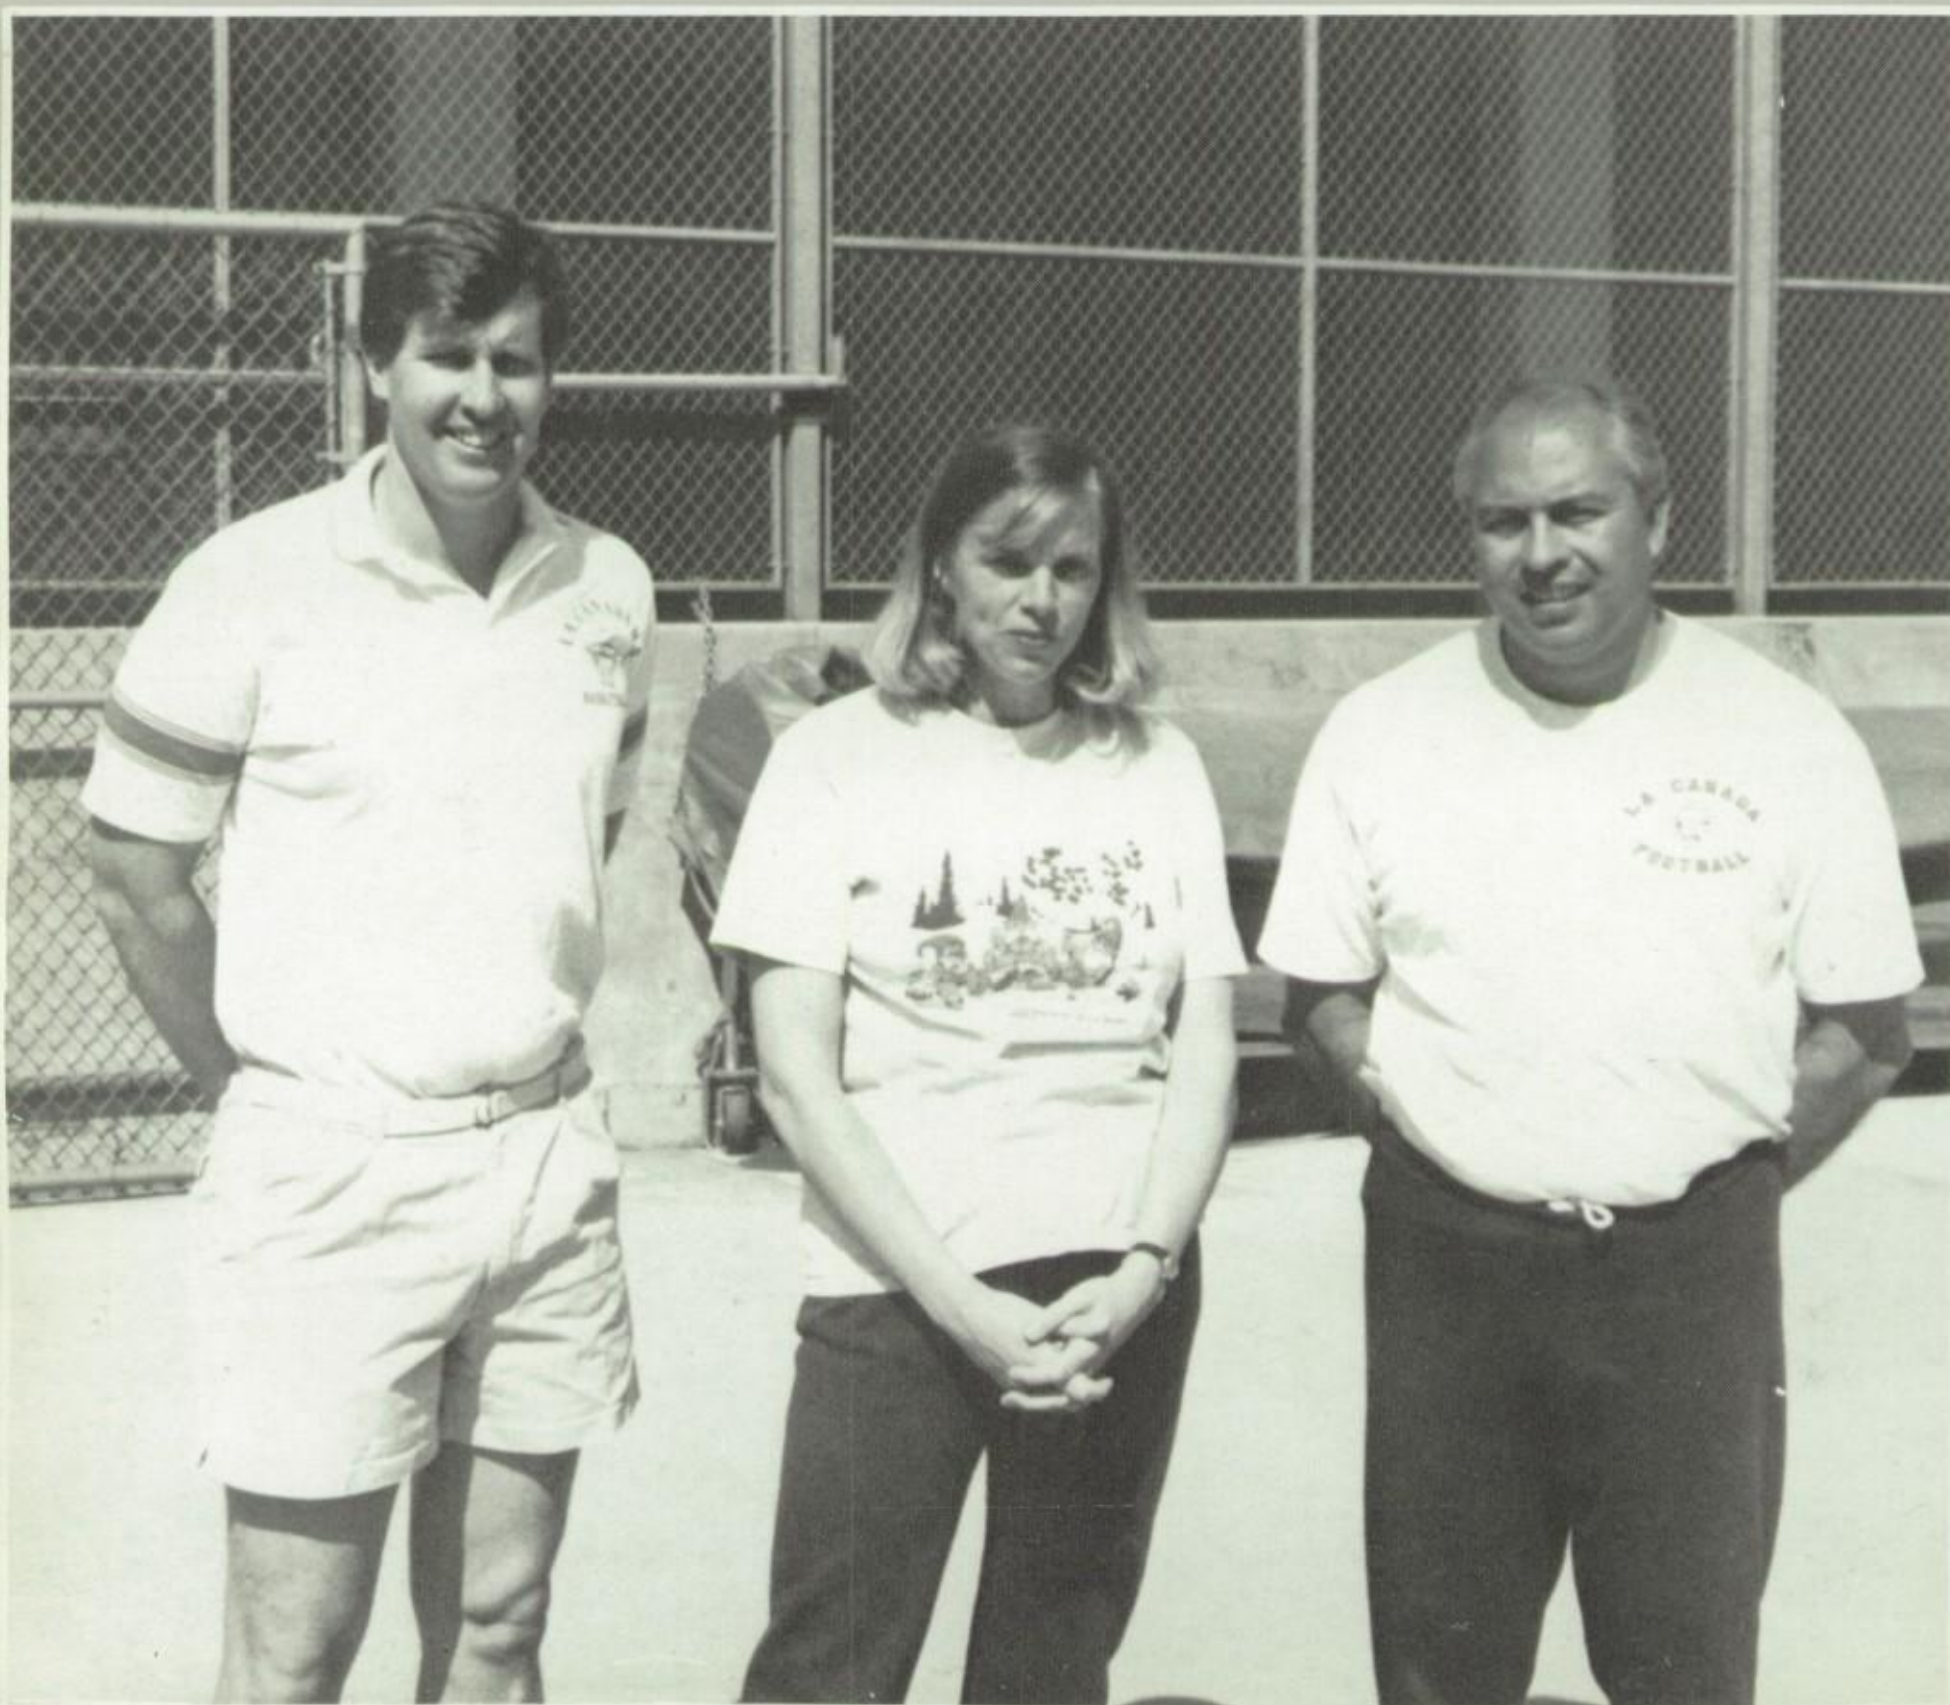

Omega strained themselves this year. All working to extend their efforts to the limit ... but a huge hundred mile diameter cement sphere was broken by fun. I'm not saying that Omega was a huge hundred mile diameter cement sphere, but Omega had fun. Hopefully the fun shows and the average reader can't help but enjoy the book. So sit back. If you don't enjoy it ... you can go sit under a huge hundred mile diameter cement sphere ...

Omega Dedication . . .

Hofman Estes Larez

Omega recognizes our outstanding teacher-coaches that have raised so many tremendous scholar athletes. The task of selecting one individual for recognition would have been much too strenuous a task for anyone to embark on alone. Instead we chose three prolific characters. Coach Tom Hofman led the Spartan basketball team to one of their most successful seasons in many years winning Rio Hondo League Championship with a record of 23-3. Off the court, Tom is a fine teacher in the Special Education department. Coach Bobbie Estes headed up the girl's volleyball team to an overwhelming 10-2 record and captured the league title. Away from the volleyball net, Bobbie runs the student store. Coach Nick Larez turned the Spartan football program around to win the first league title since 1980 with an undefeated league record. Off the gridiron, Nick teaches special education. We are grateful for the standard of athletic and academic achievement that this trio has set at La Canada High School.

EDITORS' NOTES . . .

I can't remember how many times I have been told that your high school years are the four quickest of your life. I've never believed it until now. In these pages you are seeing our senior year and now it is over. For others, it's just the beginning while others are counting the days to get out of here. I can't lie and say I'm sad to be leaving, but it'll be a new and scary step for me and the entire class of 1988.

This book was my senior year. Sometimes I wonder if it was all worth it. It wasn't always easy. There were fights, arguments, and endless nights. In your hands, you're holding hours of frustration. But with the frustration, came great friends and lots of laughs. The days and nights I spent with the staff will linger in me forever. Some of the funniest moments of this year happened at a typewriter at 3:00 a.m. The friends I gained from Omega were all my friends before, but now I see them in a different light and I love them all.

I definitely couldn't have done this alone. I owe a lot to Carey Kienitz (although he owes me 5,000 dollars), last year's editor. He was a very special friend and he showed me the tricks of the trade. He not only taught me about the styles and techniques, but also he showed me how to deal with the pressures, the let-downs, and the utter confusion. He was a hard act to follow. I owe my life to Sean Hawkins. I never thought he would be so eager to help and do all he could do for this book. He always had a solution to those seemingly unsolvable problems. Thank You Sean! Mrs. Miller, our advisor, was great. She had the administration breathing down her neck the entire year watching our every move. Thanks also to a great staff. Although we were the biggest procrastinators in the world, we made it. Thank you all!

Our goal this year was to try and please everyone with our book but now I realize that is impossible. If a small staff can't agree on a single title for one page then an entire school is not ever going to be satisfied with these 292 pages. Well, read it with an open mind and all I can say is I tried. This is the second year of a new "style" of book. Well, I hate to say you guys better get used to it. This is the way it will and will always be from now on.

This book is not just pictures and copy, for me it is memories, and I hope it's the same for you. Enjoy it!

Editor - in - Chief

Jane Limer

If you're wondering why there are two editor's notes, don't wait for an answer. At least don't ask me. This year, Omega was like a dream. I remember bits and pieces, but I can't for the life of me figure out what they meant or how they fit together. I remember layouts. Lots of layouts. I remember staying up all night totally replacing sections of the book. I inexplicably even remember staying up all night working on a section that I KNEW was totally going to be replaced. I remember getting yelled at for not having done something that wasn't even my something to do in the first place. But the worst thing I remember is warfare . . . battle . . . a constant struggle for something that should have been made clear last September. Sure, I badmouthed her behind her back, but she remained my friend. I apologize, but I saw Omega drowning, and it seemed no one would pull it to shore. I don't deserve any of the credit though, all that should go to the staff, because last year L.C. saw the closest-knit and hardest working group of people it has ever seen on a yearbook staff, so thank them.

Yet I can't help but wonder what would have happened if I was the editor. Looking back to the end of last year's book, I still wonder how I even got on the staff. Today I wonder what I'm doing writing this. May I be so bold as to look into the bright future and state that by the time you read this, the goal of "completion" will have been met. The long hours of pain and hard work won't show, but me, and the rest of the Omega staff, will live with the satisfaction of accomplishment - A feat so great that it is unnoticeable . . . and unimaginable. As off the wall as it may seem, I'd like to thank the Academy, and as much as I despise "oscar's" I take one anyway. And many gracious thanks to H. Miller for the much needed encouragement. It was a fun year, I'm happy with what was finally spewed out of the plant. Maybe someday this will all be a movie . . .

Love,

P.S. Jane, do you still love me?

Congratulations Katherine!

We are proud of the way you handle yourself; the challenges you face, the responsibilities you accept, the way you think through situations before making decisions and the strength you show in following through.

Your Dad and I no longer worry about you; you are very capable of leading your own life and we know any decisions that you make for yourself will be right.

You set high moral and spiritual standards for yourself. You have the sensitivity to develop good relationships with all ages and the maturity to balance your many experiences far beyond your years.

You can't imagine how happy this makes us feel.

You are a wonderful, special person and a beautiful daughter.

As your Mother, I am very grateful of the special bond we have, those special times together; sharing special thoughts. I love you dearly as your Mother and I also love you, as your friend.

A "To All My Editors (And Important Others) Note"

Sean, Jane, Tammy, Vashali and Rain, you did outstanding jobs this year as editors of LCHS's publications. Being the editor of a school newspaper or yearbook is a very difficult, tiring and often thankless job, but one you will never forget. I thank you for all the hours of work you have spent to produce this Omega and another year of liads.

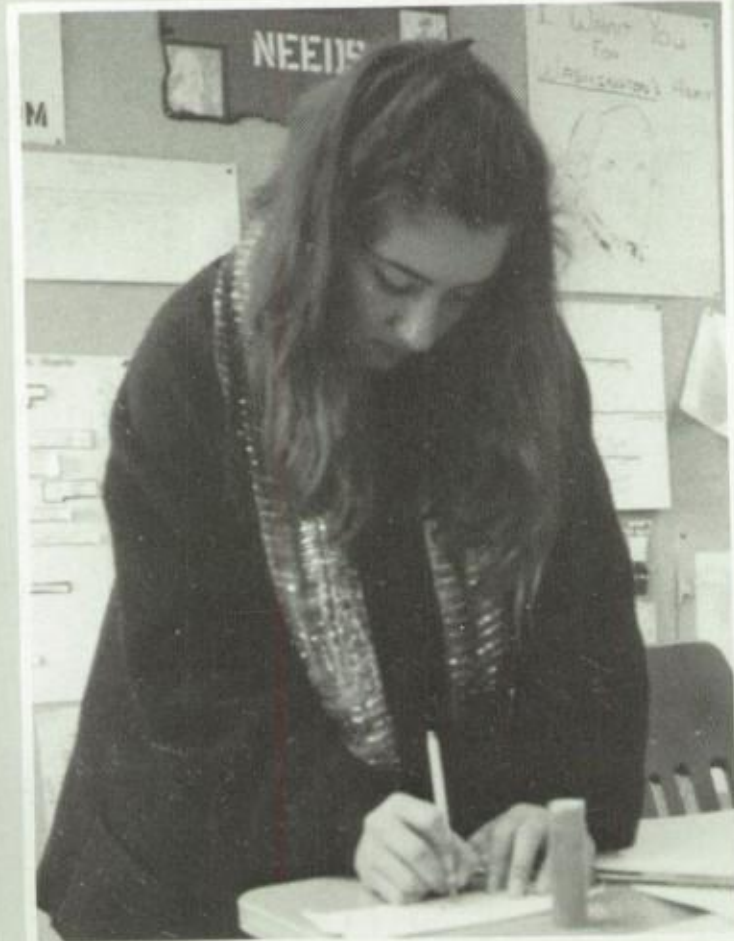

This year's Omega staff was definitely a unique and talented group. Sean Hawkins is to be given the credit for guiding, designing and creating many of the ideas that went into this book. Sean, you did an outstanding job and you can be very proud of your accomplishments. (I didn't mean to yell at you for the something that wasn't even yours to do!) Jane and Erica, your organizational skills (at least most of the time, Janet!) made this year run much smoother than last year. We almost made every deadline. Bob and Blake, the utility men, great writing from both of you. Remember Blake, Faculty _____! Matt, Chris M., and Jenny a good job with pics. Matt, someday you'll find all the missing film. Remember Unocal vertical, Condor horizontal. Chris M., we won't count the times you didn't show up. Jenny, our queen, what a gal, we like her!

Scott C., the dot and prophecy man, your sense of humor helped us through many tough times. A gorgeous cover, thank you. Anyone not liking their prophecy please see Scott! Julie and Chris S., a great sports job. Chris S., never again do I trust the quiet innocent-looking type, i.e. the 1st football locker pic. Gabrielle - aren't clubs fun? Last, but far from the least Mark, alias Laylock, King of the Mole people, who will I pick on next year? Remember the only expectations that are really important are those you set for yourself.

To the Omega '88 staff it was fun, hectic but fun. I'm really proud of the work you did and this Omega. Juniors, see you in the fall.

Mark, Sean, Chris S., know the meaning of the word deadline. Well, at least Sean and Chris S. do. Mark is thinking about it below.

Jane and Jenny take their usual work break. Matt, Bob, Blake and Chris M. doing what they do best. "Don't worry, Mrs. M., it will be in tomorrow." Sure guys!

I sincerely hope that all the students and staff at LCHS will enjoy this Omega. A lot of hard work went into producing the best yearbook we could! Unless you've had the experience of being on a yearbook staff you can not imagine the time, effort, pressure and pride that is involved. So give the staff some praise and any constructive criticism, let us know so we can improve and make Omega '89 the best yearbook yet.

Omega '89 staff - here we go again, the fun has just started!!
Mrs. Miller

Always
 Christel,
 you have got to be one of the sweetest girls I know and you are always giving me hugs and compliments. I will miss that when I go so stay sweet and be as good as I do friends as you were to me take care your honey I'm

Always
 Yours
 Jonathan Wilson

Dear Christel,
 well, babe, here we sit at the end of our freshman year! Where did it go, all the time, all the work, all the friends? Now, summer! I've waited so long for it and it's finally here! We will definitely get together and cause I love being with you! Also I want to see you hot babe! Johnny baby wow! Well, even though we had no classes and barely ever saw each other, you're still mean a lot to me and I hope friend! You're a very special person to me and I hope for you, anytime, day or night! So, have such the wild summer days of being a freshman then big more! Well, gotta jam! Friends forever!
 sophmores! Always,
 Delo

P.S. call me or I'll call you, but we have to get together!

Reserved 4 Rachel-

Chrispy Critter-

I would say it's been a great year but I don't think it has. Obviously, we haven't been as close as we were last year but whatever you may think, I love you.
I had a lot of fun with you this year.
We got into a lot of trouble! BUT - we had fun doing it, RIGHT!! I really want to stay friends with even after we graduate... I'm not going to be around much in the summer but we HAVE TO GET TOGETHER!! Anyways have an awesome summer w/ John.
I ♡ U!

Howdy Christel

♡ Rachel

This year was very fun. Ireland was the best.

Next year will be even better

Maybe I will see you at band workshops.
Thanks for being nice

Love
Jill (TM)

Hay Whats Up!

I hope you have a rad summer! Same story everybody seas.
See you later!

Chaise Hyer

Hey Babe,
you're the sweetest person.
and whenever I'm down you come along and say "you so cute" and I feel better. Keep your sweet smile.
Take it easy on the guys this summer. Love your friend
Heather

Damn you
Christel. $ hhh!
Wow, I'll miss you, band has been in me 10000 times. I'll miss you, hang it. Well original, have a great summer, but Dammit. Well now I'll be
Bye

Howell she 1st and last.

Bye

Christel, you are the most have incredible woman I ever had ever met in the world. I have always had a tremendous crush on you.
Your true love,
Andy

He my little sex kitten you are so lucious! you great Big Jerry's kid. just kidding

Love

Christel,

Hello Honey, How are you? Well, this year in math was ok.
We should have started talking earlier though. I was shocked when I found out about you Kelly's son.
I hope you have a good summer and if you ever need to talk or something just call me. (Kelly has my #). See you during the summer. Take Care of Yourself.

Love

(cutest) had that sweetie naus it going for you I am so glad I met you you are so sweet. Wows had alot of fun together and we will have lots more! just don't forget of all the fun things we did and even though they are immature you will look back and laugh. member the fun battles howies aren't you glad you got a pro sophmo now? you are now a pro jurnoir! thank you so much for letting me come to you for my problems. and when ever you have something on your mind feel free to come to me cuz I will always be here for you "k"? Well jicobegger its been a grate for I just wish I had met you earlier than I had but I guess its better late than never right? this summer is going to be fucken great when I get back from Tahiti will go out and totally fucken Party "k"? Killer duck ha? member when we (fun battles Hais) went dancing and you called John and he came and picked up. they were so fucken pissed off at us. But they just have to learn that we can do what ever the fuck we want to. that was a total Bltst!
When we went skating. that was a total Bltst!
Wass jicobegger I think I better be getting along. But don't ever forget me!

Heya Cristel,
 It's been a real trip, I met a lot of new friends this year and I'm glad
 I met you. Well
 I gotta go east but hopefully I'll see you and the gang
 this summer.
 Later,

Hi Cristel
 We've had this fun year. It's been a small group. We've gone through soap & always I hope to great friends & a hot summer together. Have fun!

Hey Cristel!
 Well we didn't really get to know each other that well, except for my purse! (Haha) Anyway, have a crazy summer and party hardy, meet guys get totally wasted etc...
 See ya later!
 Irene Theodoropoulos

Hey Cristel,
 What be going down. Didn't you just love marching Band this year? Are you continuing with it? I have sympathy for you! Anyway it's been a unique year!

Cristel,
 It's been a Dandy Year
 But now it's gone. Actually it kinda sucked. But we can be SOPHOMORES next year and then we can pick on Freshmen. I can't wait. See you in the fall or maybe sooner.

Chris Mojib

Christel - this pen doesn't work.

Freshman year is over - ~~over~~ to sophomore. I don't know whether this year was harsh or just great, but remember Social Studies?!
Ireland!? And - !? I'm really glad you're in small groups, and call me anytime this summer.

Remember - everything has a place and no one believes it anyway!

♥, ☺, and most of all, ~~A!~~

Love ya, Jenny Adams
Thanks for being my friend! ☺!

Hey Christel -
How's it goin' - Pretty good, right? Attend there's no more freshman - the year went by fast! Have a crazy summer and party hardy every day and night! (or atleast try, we all will try to)
Love ya
Jenny Adams

Christel -

I'm so glad you could join our "God Squad." You always add so much sensitivity to our group, even though you do forget your Bible. Enjoy your summer. I'll miss your smiles next year.
Stay with the faith!

God loves you,

Julie

Christel,

Well I guess it's been kinda exciting. So I know that I've been a bummer this year, but that's my job. I was A Freshman. Have a fabulous summer.

Love,
Jenny Adams

Hi Christel, I'm so glad that I meet you this year, you're a very special person - I'm not lying. But really - I hope that we can be in the same small group again next year. And if you ever have a problem just call me up and say "Yo Wendell!" OK?! So I'll see you next year as a SOPHOMORE Luv Wendy Allen (your small group buddy)

Christel, well, we've had a pretty trippy year. I hope someday (soon) you will find that you have a lot of friends and that a lot of people care for you. I hope we become better friends over the years to come
I love you.
Niffer

Christel -
you are so sweet. I'm so glad Jen had you come to our awesome, fully happening SMALL GROUP! Oh yah!
Always believe in yourself because you are definitely a quality person who is really fun to be around.
I'll really miss you.

Keep the faith + babe! :)

Christel, I am so glad that we have become better friends - member each other. Now we are pretty dang good friends! I will write you a special letter, but you are such a special person and we have to get together real soon - I'll give you a call - you know
I'll always love always,
Niffer
